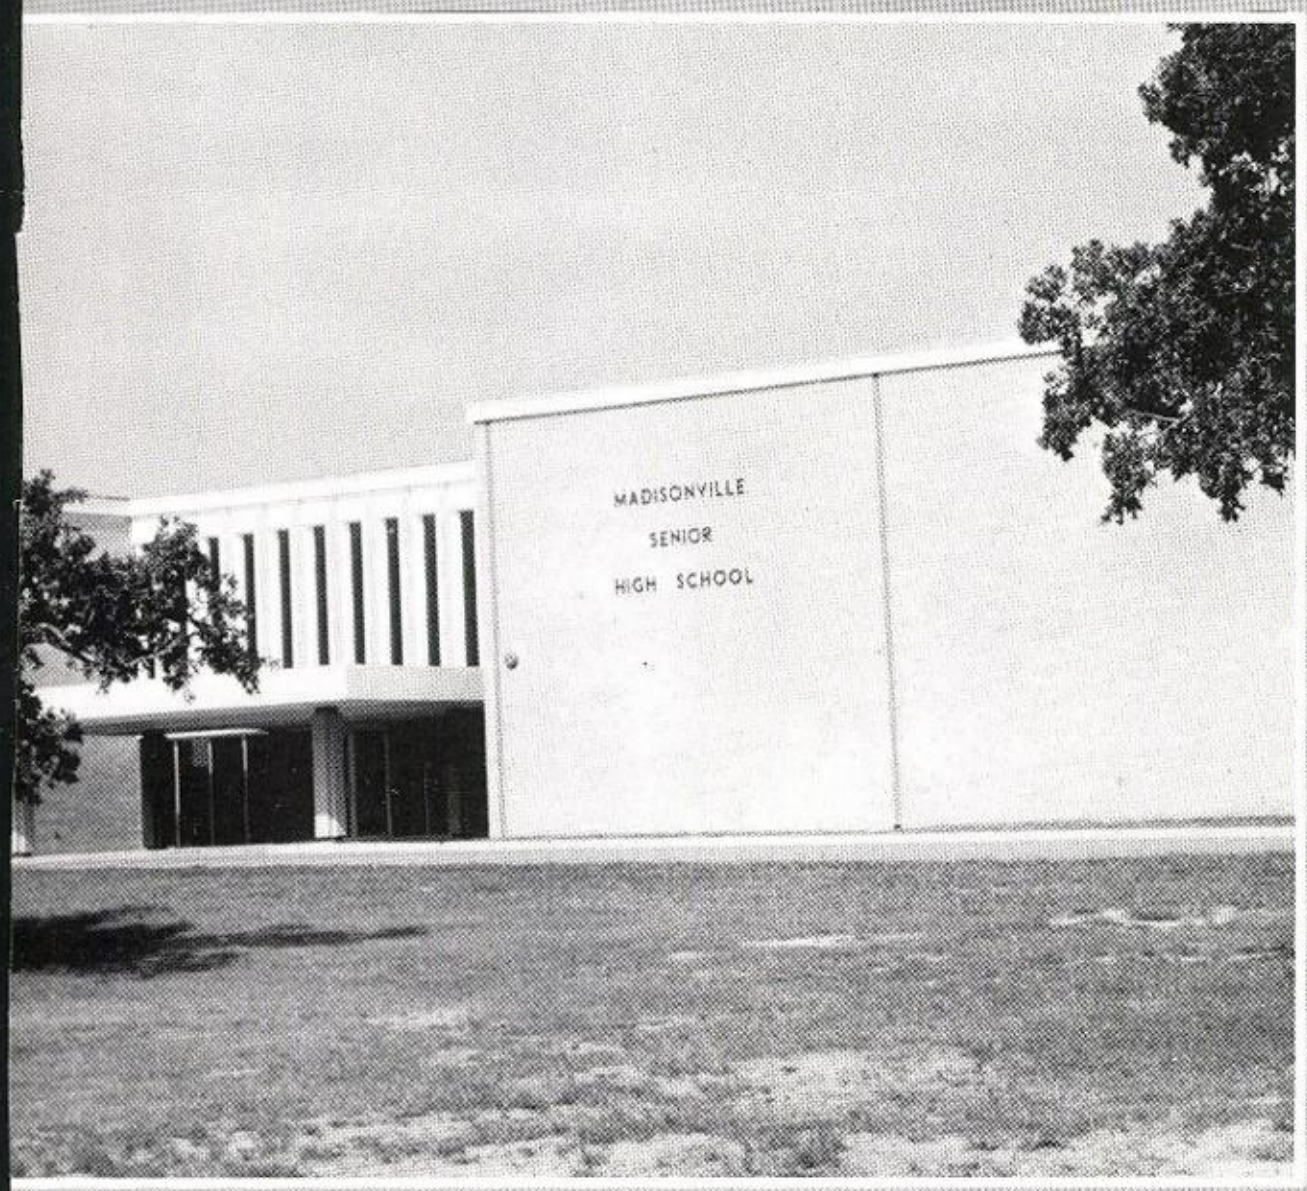
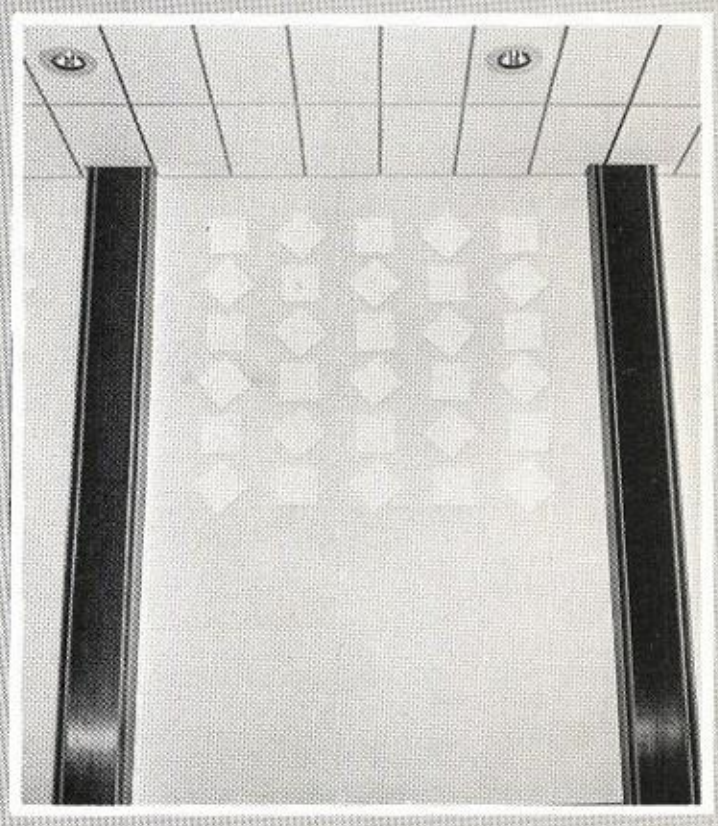
MADISONVILLE SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Dream — Finally a Reality



Madisonville's new, fully-airconditioned high school sits far back on a picturesque campus dotted with large oak trees. Designed and equipped throughout to provide modern academic opportunities, it also boasts, to the left of the glass-fronted entrance hall, a huge gymnasium with hardwood parquet flooring and modern seating, and, to the right, a large blue-carpeted auditorium with an intricate lighting system.

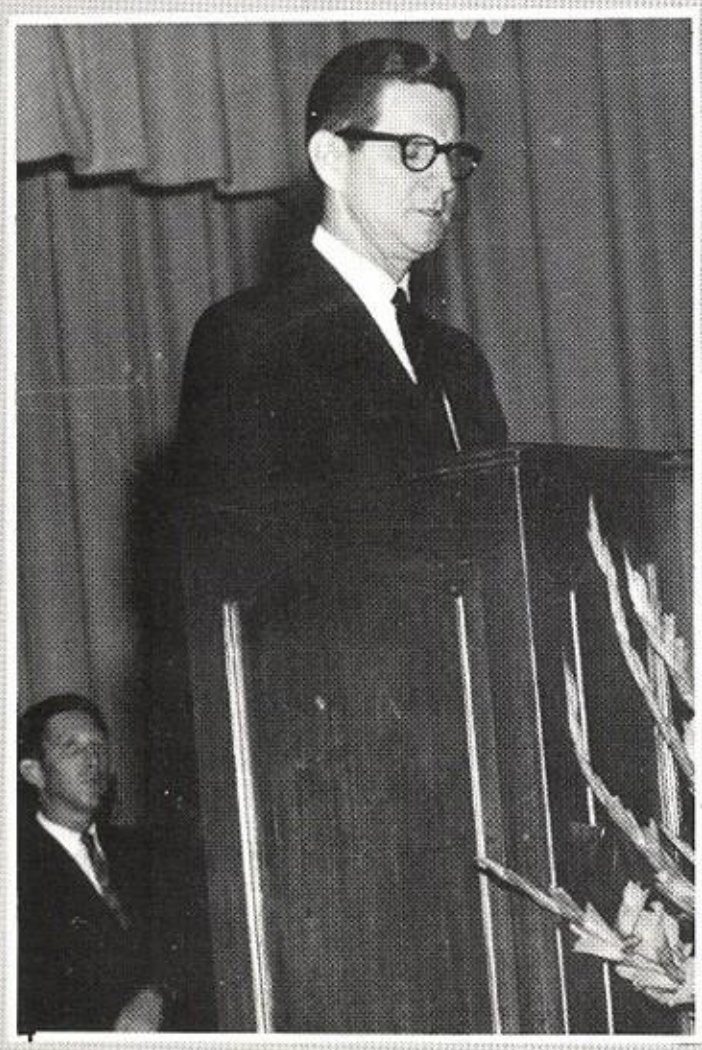
As its theme this year, your 1967 MUSTANG proudly salutes the new Madisonville Senior High School and features the motif used to adorn the walls of the beautiful auditorium.



New Senior High School

Student council members were on hand to serve as ushers and to guide visitors through the building.

Mr. Norris Starkey, superintendent of Madisonville schools, introduced the guest speaker.



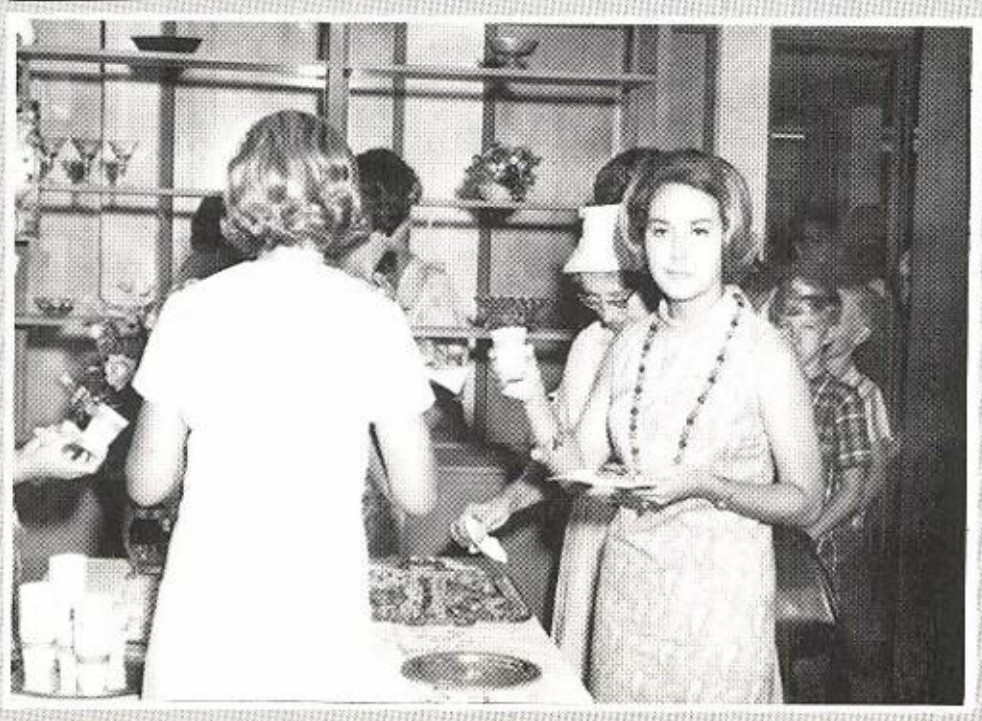
Mr. Thomas. E. Blakeney, president of the Board of Education, was master of ceremonies for the program.

Guest speaker at the dedication was Dr. J. W. Edgar, State Commissioner of Education.

Opened Wide Its Doors

Townspeople and guests gathered at 2:00 P.M. August 14, 1966, to take part in the dedication of the new high school. Preceding the dedicatory address, Mrs. Jerry Reed sang the National Anthem and James Otis Carter, president of the student body, led the Pledge of Allegiance. A consultant to the architects was present to give informative comments on the building.

Mr. R. E. Hawthorne, high school principal, welcomed guests.

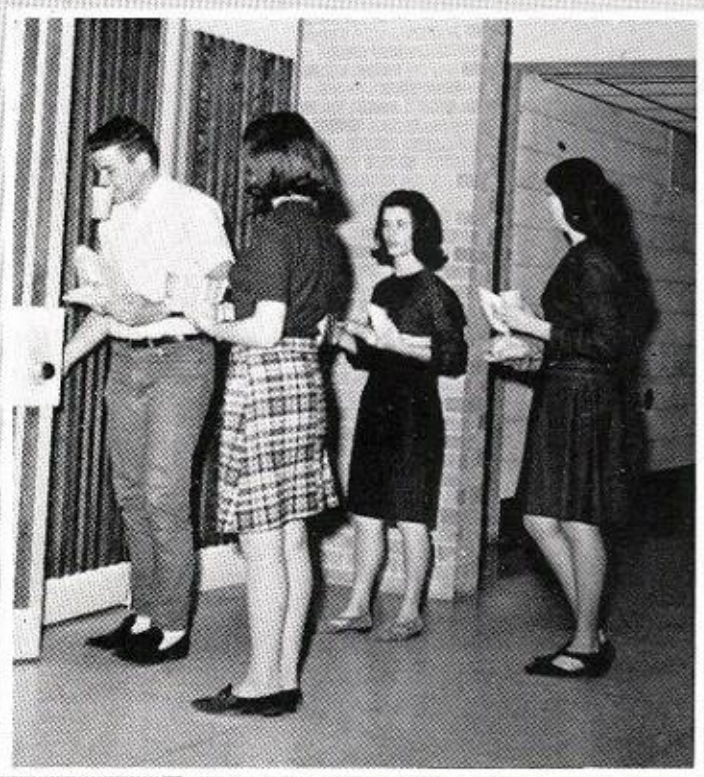


After the program, visitors touring the building found punch and cookies waiting in the homemaking department.

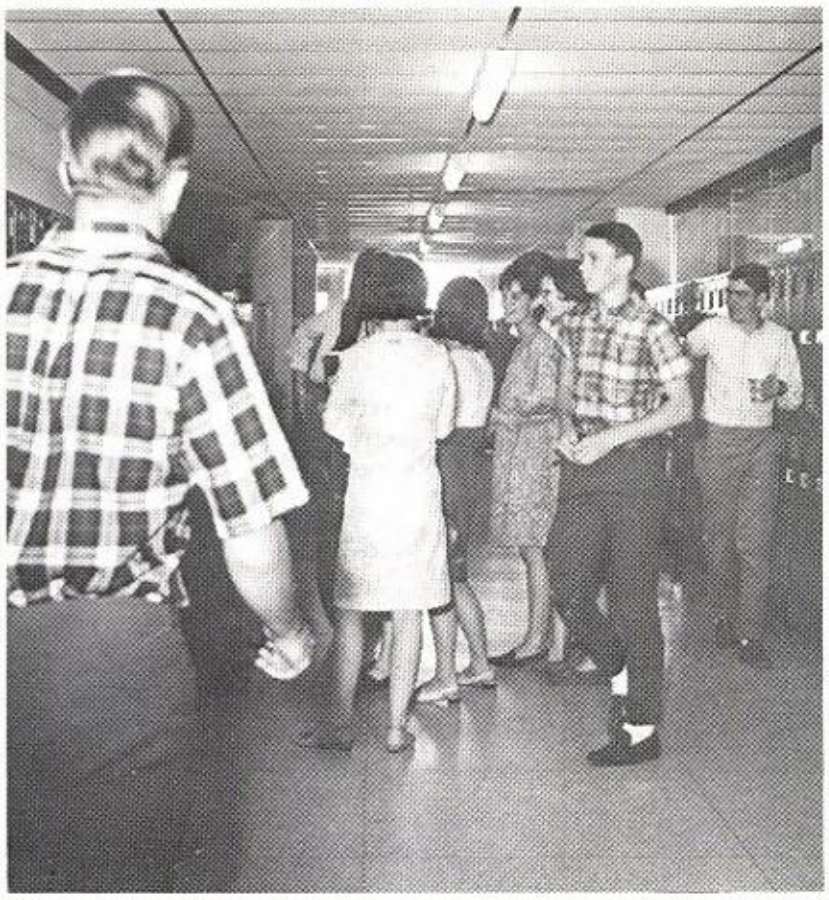
Student Body Moved In and Soon Adjusted to New Surroundings

Parked cars waited silently while owners met a busy schedule of classes.

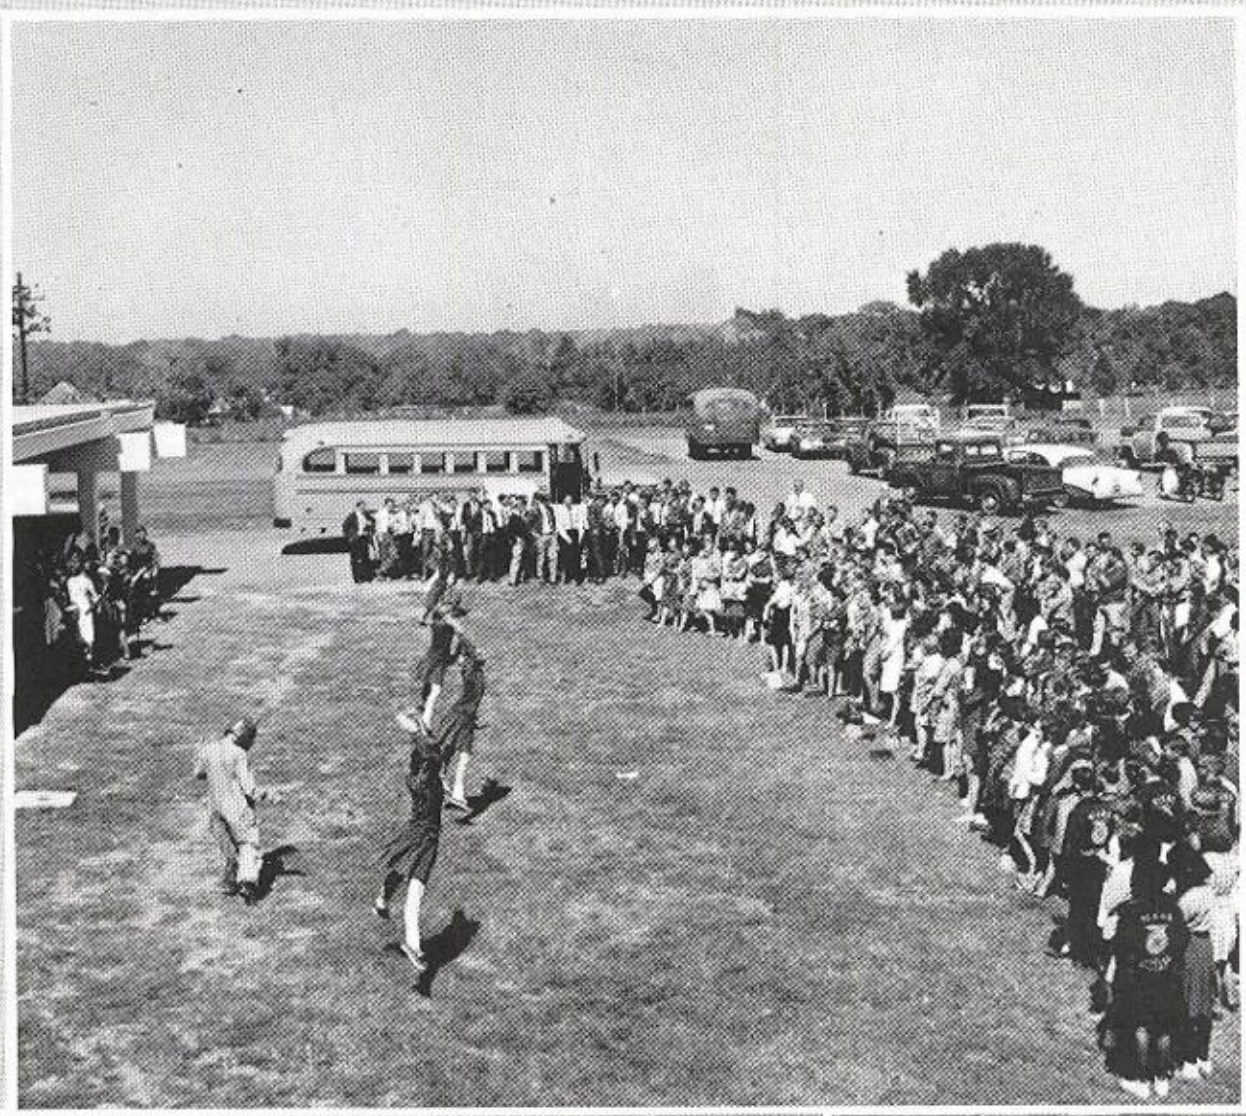
Students crowded the concession stand at lunch time...and headed for the gym "dining room"...



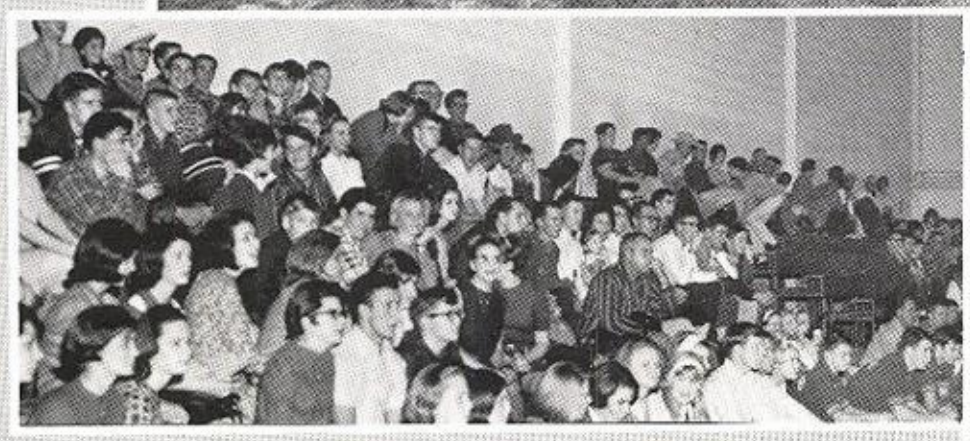
...or the side porch.

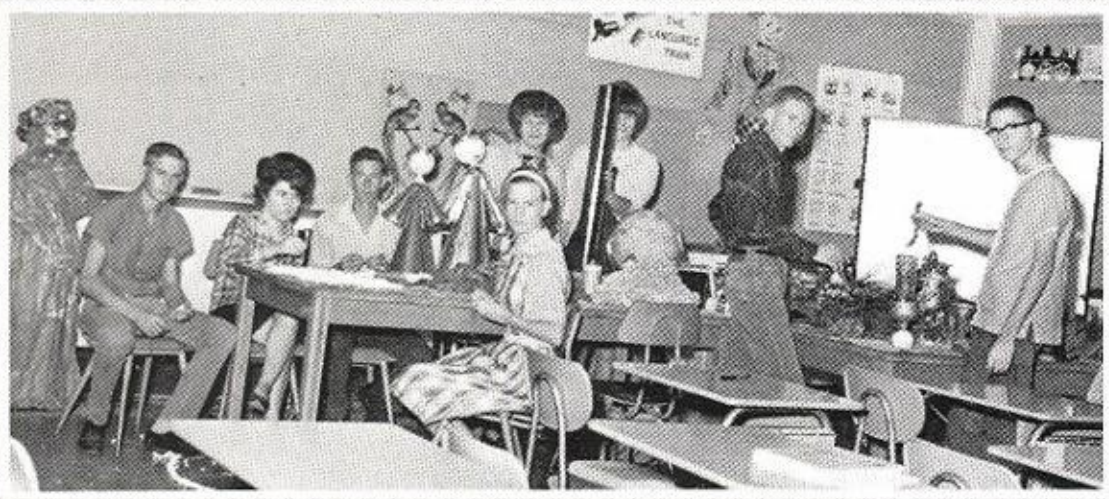


Morning and afternoon breaks were welcomed by all--each in his own way.

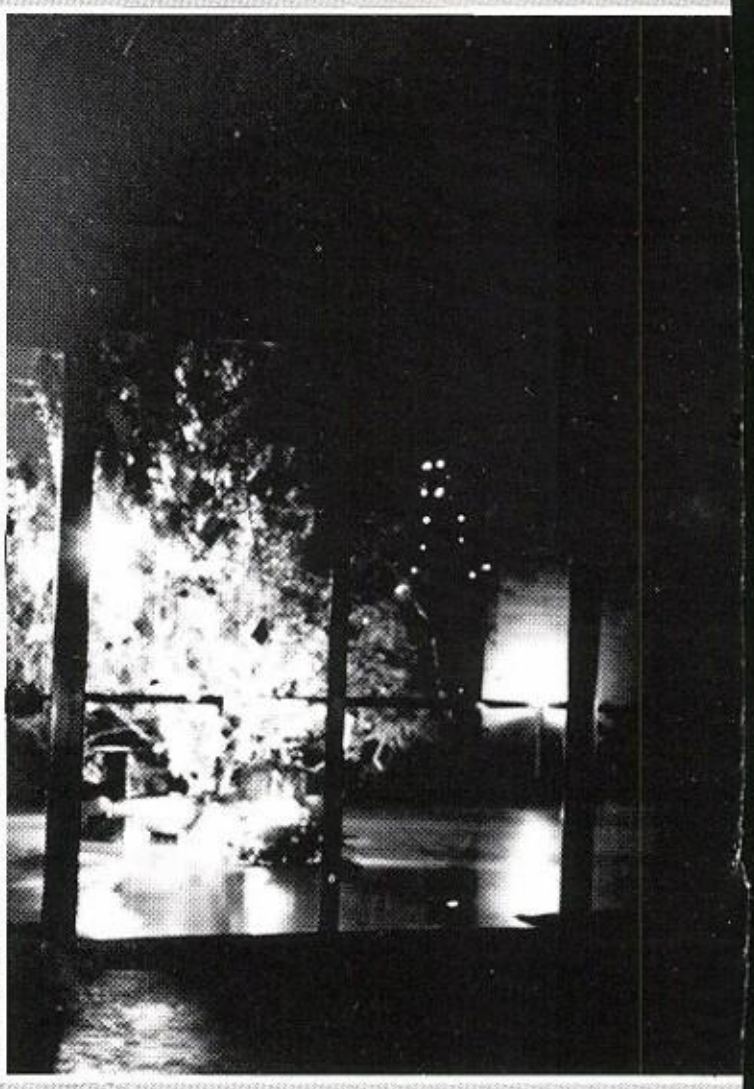


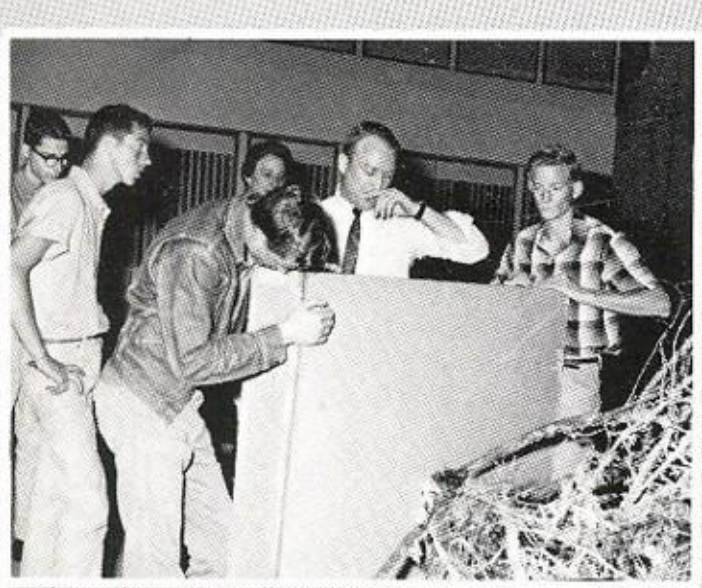
Spirit zoomed as student body cheered for the team at pep rallies and games.

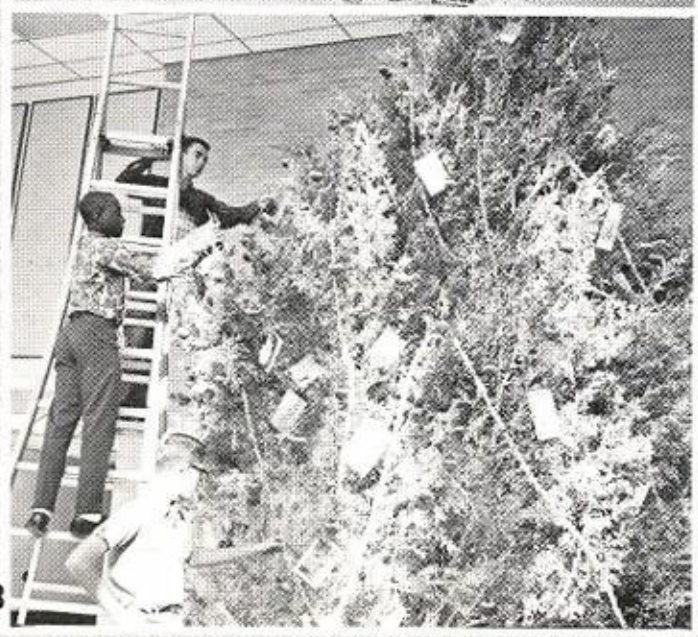




Mrs. Gunn's special education class, under the sponsorship of the student council, began early on their project of dressing the new building for its first Christmas.

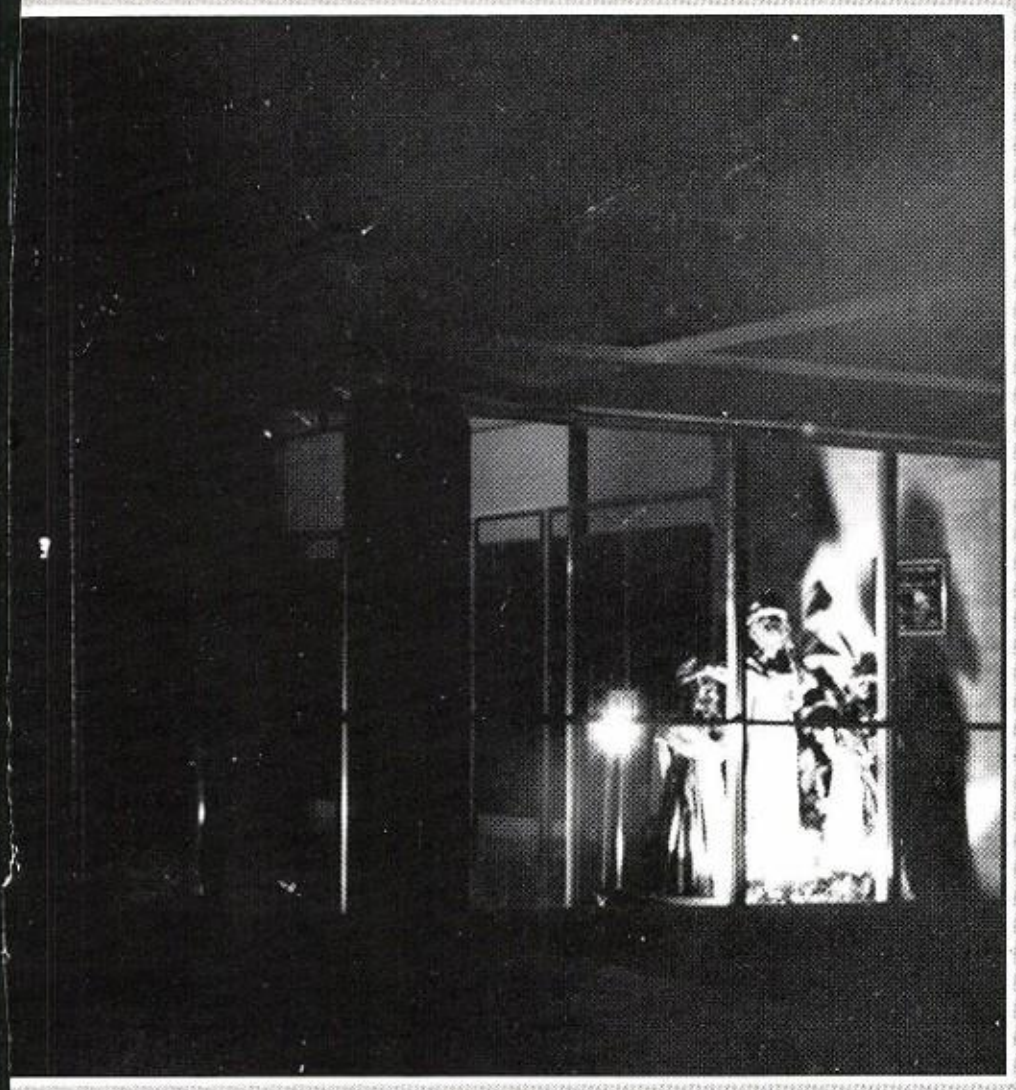






It was no small task to bring a 15-foot tree from the woods and erect it in the lobby.

First Christmas Brought First-Prize Award for New High School



Judges liked what they saw...

...and part of what they saw was the Three Wise Men and an angel spot-lighted in the foreground of the lobby. Scattered through the building were other seasonal displays.

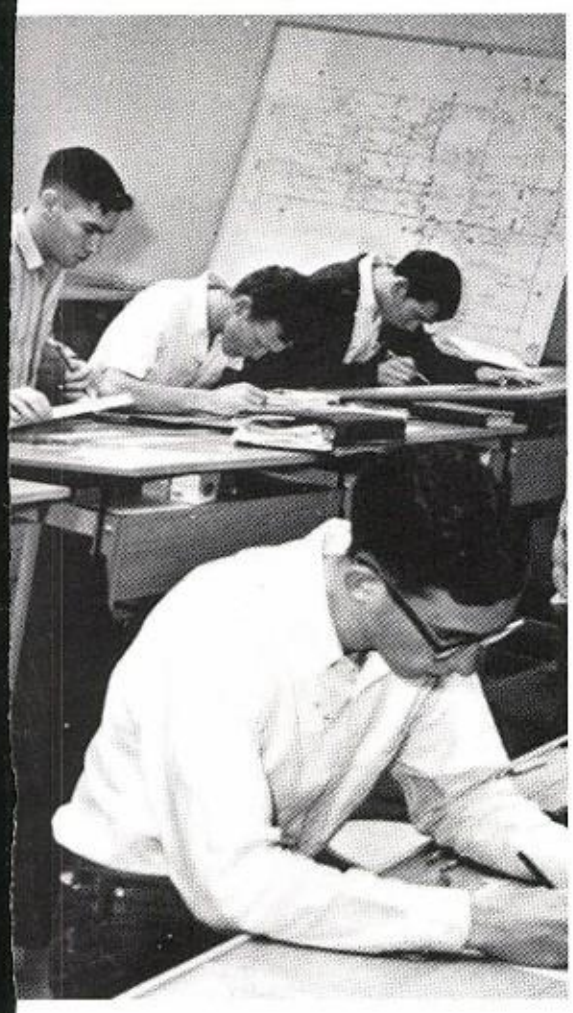
Scientific Thought and Manual Skill



MATHEMATICS

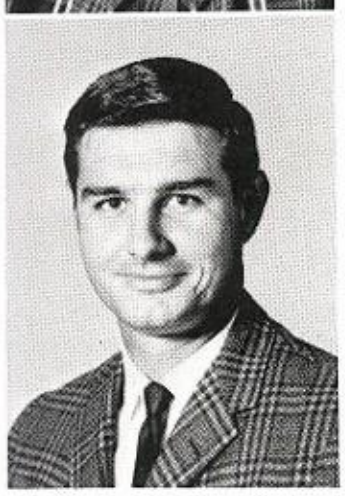
Basic concepts were developed in related math, algebra I, and geometry. Students who enrolled in algebra II, trigonometry, and elementary analysis had the opportunity to develop deeper understanding of mathematical principles while learning the structure and skills of these more advanced courses. These courses enable the college-bound student to acquire the background necessary for his future education and profession.

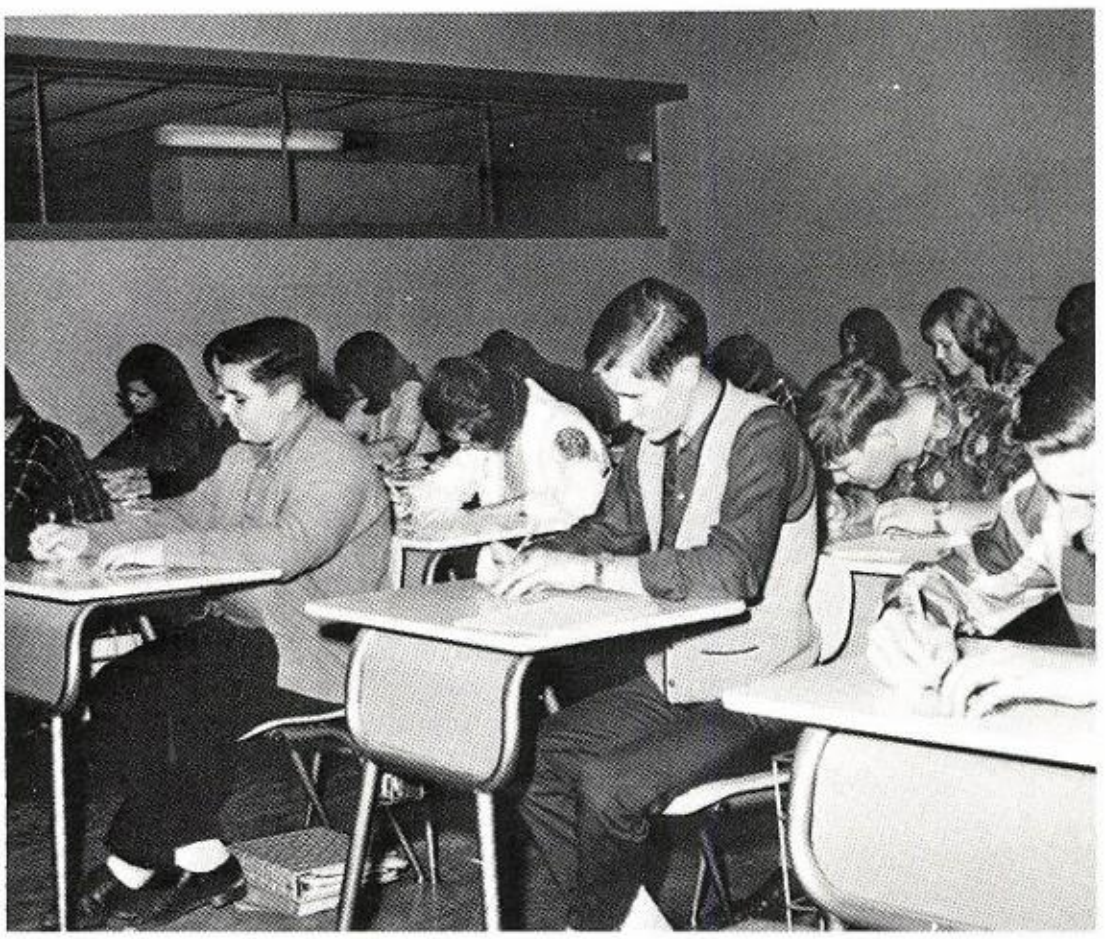
SCIENCE

General science, biology, physics, and chemistry, are the four fields of science offered in the curriculum. Beginning in general science with the study of the earth, astrology, and nature as a whole, the student progresses to biology where he concentrates on plants, insects, animals, and human anatomy--then to chemistry where he acquires information on the composition of substances and the transformation which they undergo--and to physics where he devotes his time learning about the nature of the physical world.

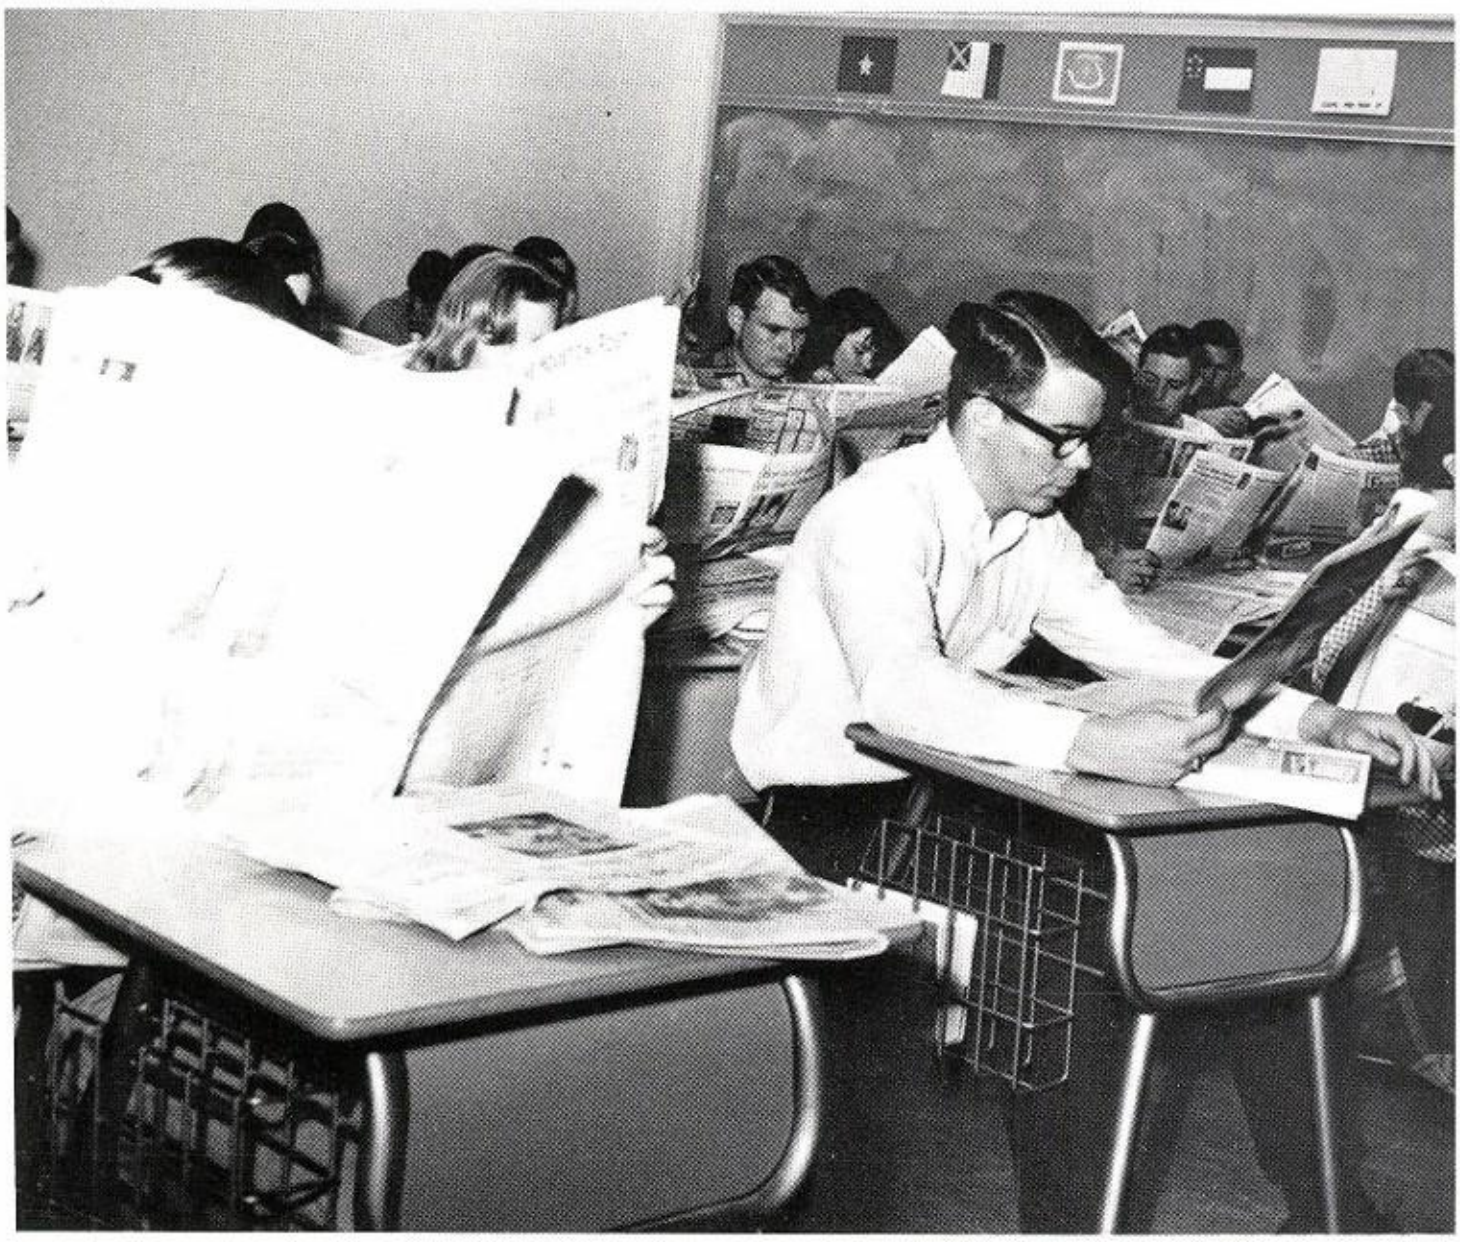
MECHANICAL DRAWING

Mechanical Drawing adapts students to meet the needs of a largely industrial world. The primary elements of mechanical drawing are correct use of drafting tools, good lettering, three dimensional representations, blueprint reading, and essential elements of a good house plan.





Algebra II students used the laminated graph charts on the new mathematics desks to determine solution sets for systems of equations.



Economics students studied the stock market from the newspaper to gain a better knowledge of the business world.

ENGLISH

Four years of required English helps to equip the student to carry on his role in life with a better understanding of the principles of communication. All classes were taught the fundamentals of composition, along with basic grammar rules, and were given the opportunity to study great literary works. The importance of reading was a point stressed throughout the year.

SPEECH

Speech is an elective course which is designed to give students an opportunity to express themselves before an audience with poise and confidence. Students studied and practiced giving speeches of introduction, welcome, and acceptance as well as informative and other types of informal talks. They prepared commercial advertisements and studied the art of poetry and prose interpretation.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Students gain valuable knowledge of other lands, as well as their own country, through courses in history and civics. Those studying world history became acquainted with the development and progress of the different nations. Important facts and dates in the history of the United States were studied in American History. Civics created a better understanding of our government and helped to prepare students to be leaders of the future.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

Vocational Agriculture courses I, II, and III provide for learning through group and individual instruction in the areas of leadership training, soil and water conservation, agricultural engineering, livestock science and production, plant science, and wildlife conservation. Instruction in all areas of learning was geared to basic scientific information, managerial skills, and manipulative skills. The student learned through participation and experience in planning, developing and carrying out supervised farming programs and other agricultural occupations. Group instruction provided basic information needed by all students enrolled.

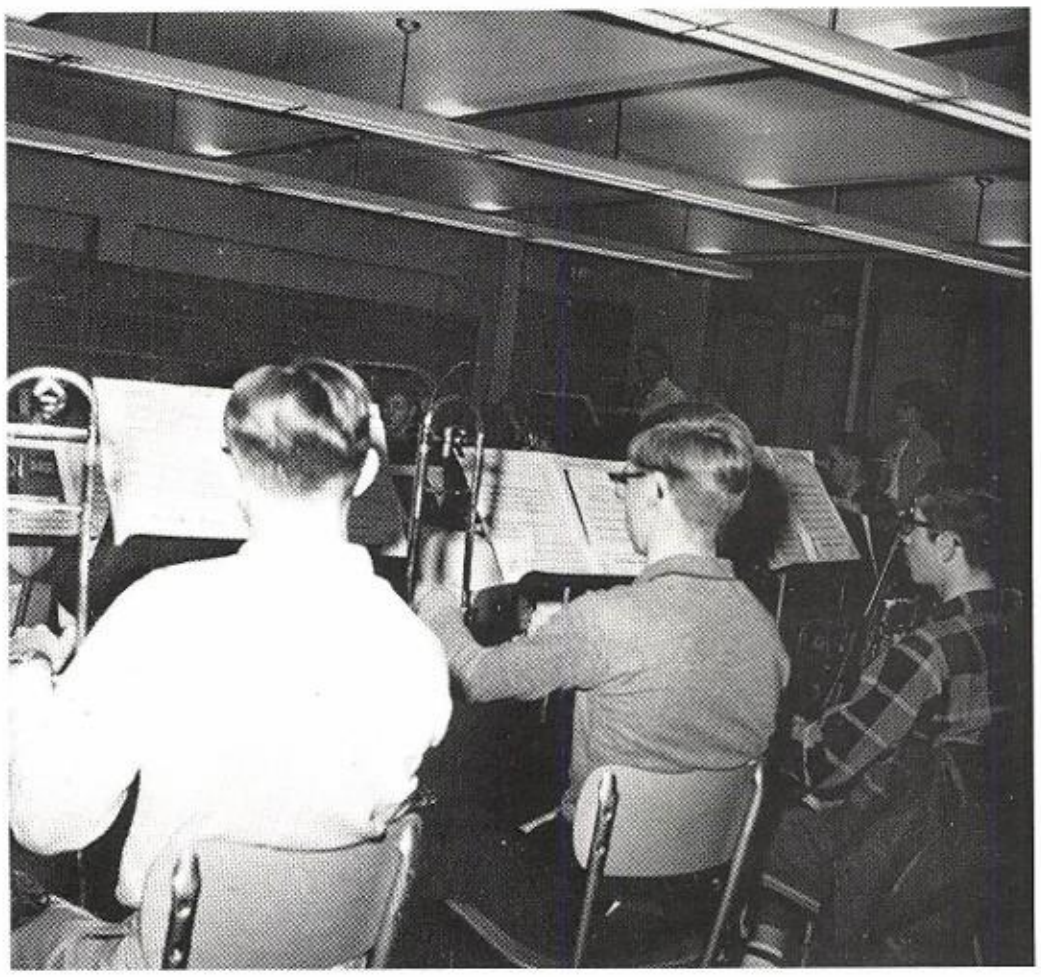
HOME ECONOMICS

"Tomorrow's homes are in the hands of its youth" is a very important axiom to be remembered by all. Girls taking home economics studied the ideals that make a good home. Basic fundamentals of serving and cooking were taught along with budgeting, child care, marriage, and good health habits.

To Broaden Various Skills

BAND

Knowing that each instrument is an important step to unity and success of the band, each member strived toward perfection and skill at his instrument. Band as a course contributes not only to training in the art of music, itself, but also to good citizenship and sportsmanship.



Band students studied their music diligently so that perfection could be attained.

Susan Wilson and Suzan Chavers tried their hand at cooking pork chops in the new and modern cooking lab.

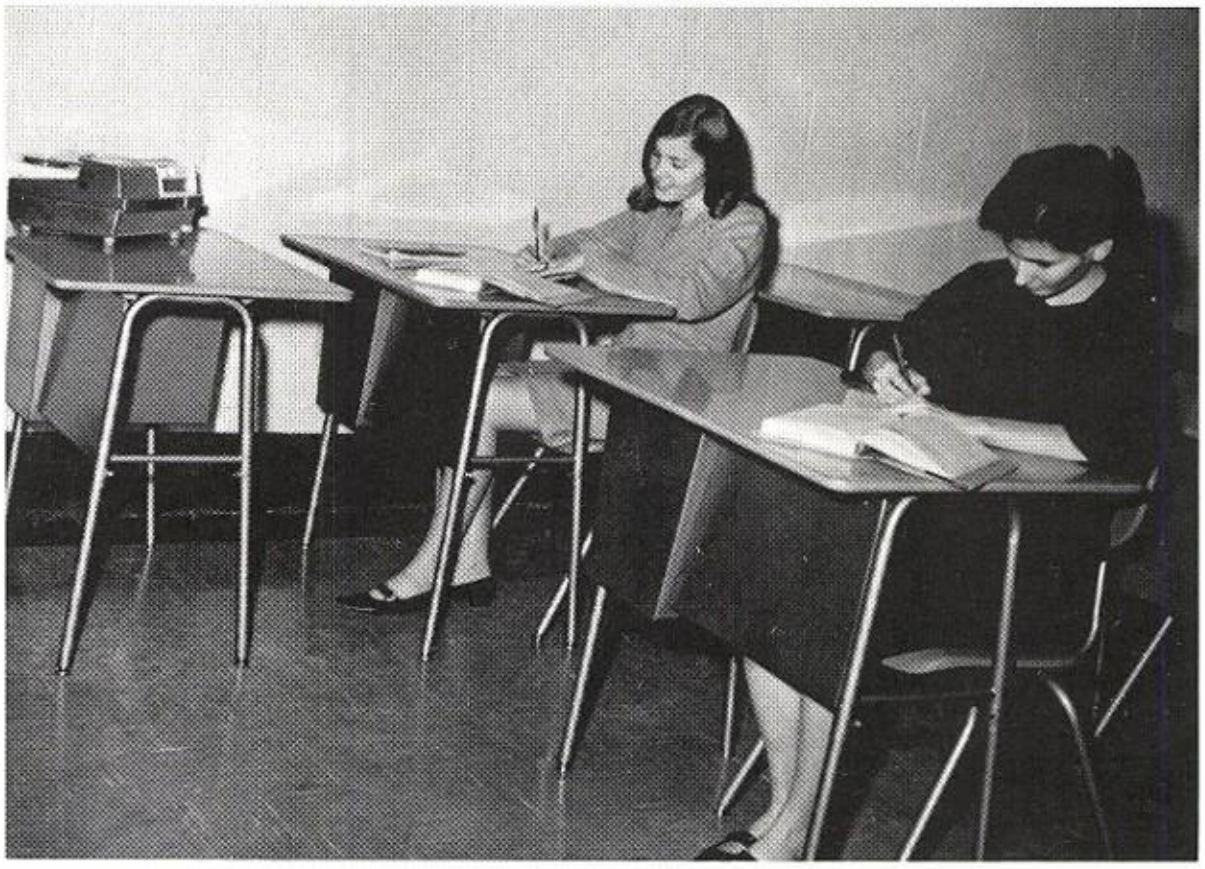
SPANISH

Being able to speak and understand a foreign language is a valuable achievement in today's world. Through the two years of Spanish offered and with the help of modern language equipment, students are given a foundation upon which to build fluency in Spanish conversation. Further opportunity is given to learn interesting facts concerning Spanish-speaking countries and to engage in classroom activities involving reading, writing, and comprehension.

Focused on Widening Horizon

BUSINESS

Students taking typing, bookkeeping, or shorthand study office procedure as well as the basic fundamentals of business education. Students enrolled in shorthand drill on dictation and strive for speed throughout the year. Typing students set as their goals, faster speed and fewer errors. Bookkeeping students gain practical knowledge and experience in accounting.



"Push to gain speed" were the by-words of shorthand students. Gloria Barnett and Pat Smith strived to get every word of the dictation.

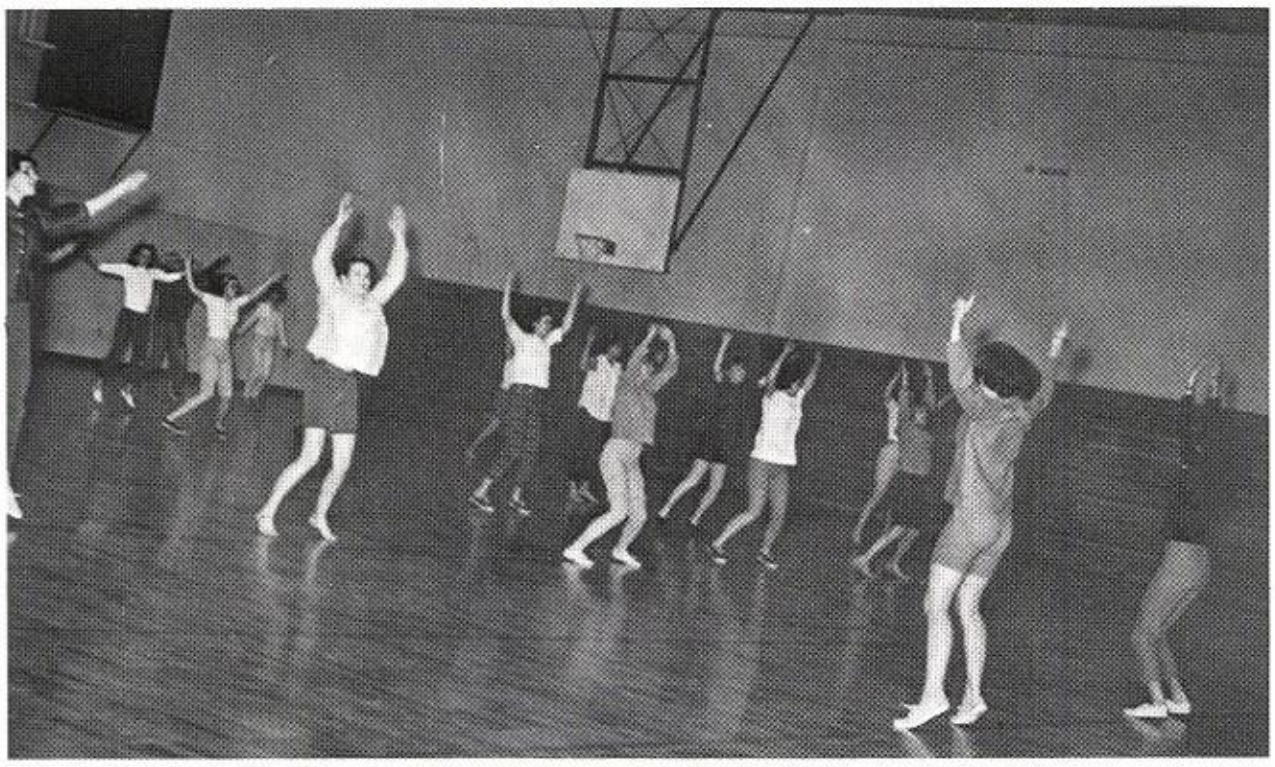
PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Both boys and girls are offered courses in physical education. Daily exercises helped to build stronger muscles while participation in games develop good sportsmanship. Health and personal hygiene are stressed during the year.



"1-2-3-4", side-straddle-hop helped P.E. girls build healthier bodies and stronger muscles.

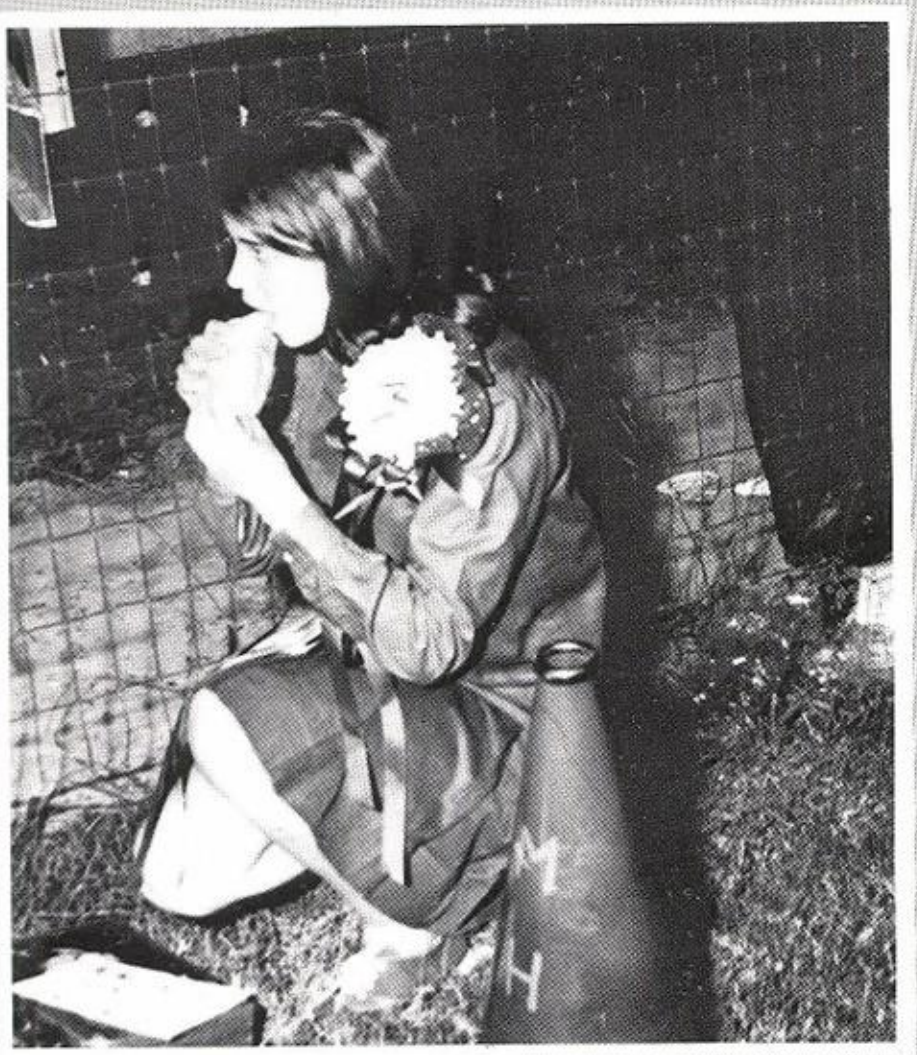
1. Juniors and seniors deserted the usual haunts to dine in an atmosphere distinctly "Italiano".

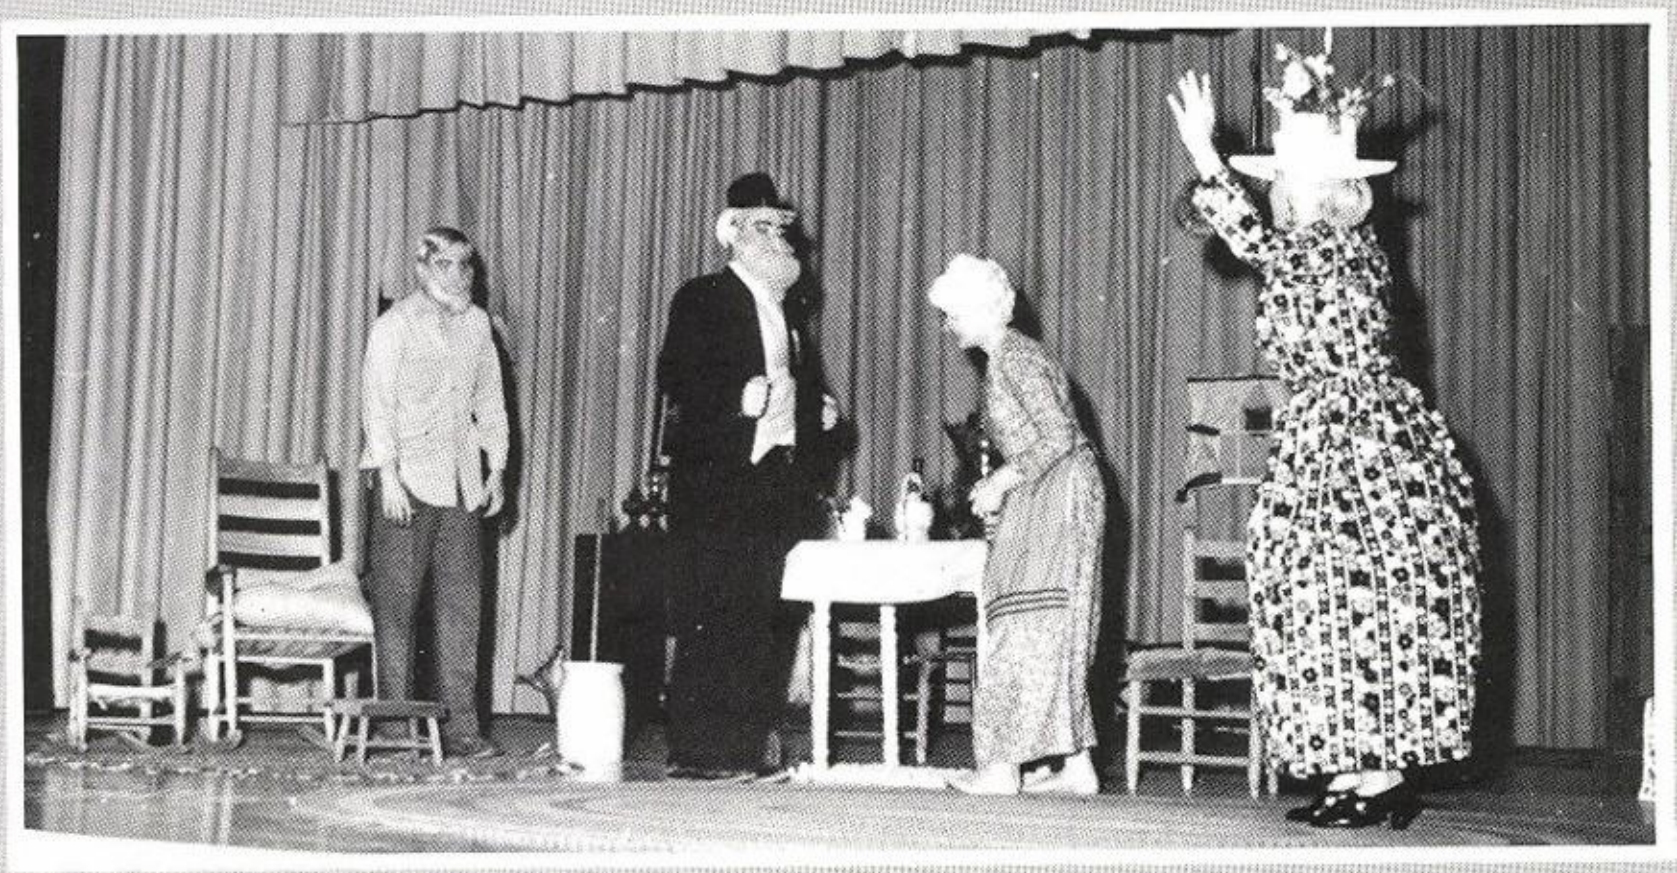
2. Even the most energetic fans at the homecoming football game--the Madisonville High School cheerleaders--took time out to refuel.

3. Formal coronation of 1966-67 homecoming queen and presentation of ex-queens was an appropriate occasion to launch the many public events destined to take place in the beautiful new auditorium.

4. Senior play cast transformed the new stage into a hillbilly setting--and themselves into convincing mountain folks.

ACTIVITIES





Homecoming festivities were set off Friday night, September 23, when the 1966 homecoming queen and her princesses were presented immediately preceding the football game with the Alto Yellow Jackets.

Events scheduled for Saturday began with a downtown parade, after which scores of ex-students and other guests were entertained at the new high school with a coffee and tours of the building.

New directors were elected at a business meeting held Saturday afternoon. Mrs. G. R. Madole, valedictorian of the class of 1902 and the oldest Madisonville High School graduate attending the homecoming celebration, was presented a corsage.

Next on the day's schedule was a barbecue, followed by the formal coronation of the queen held in the new auditorium. A homecoming dance brought the festivities to a successful close.

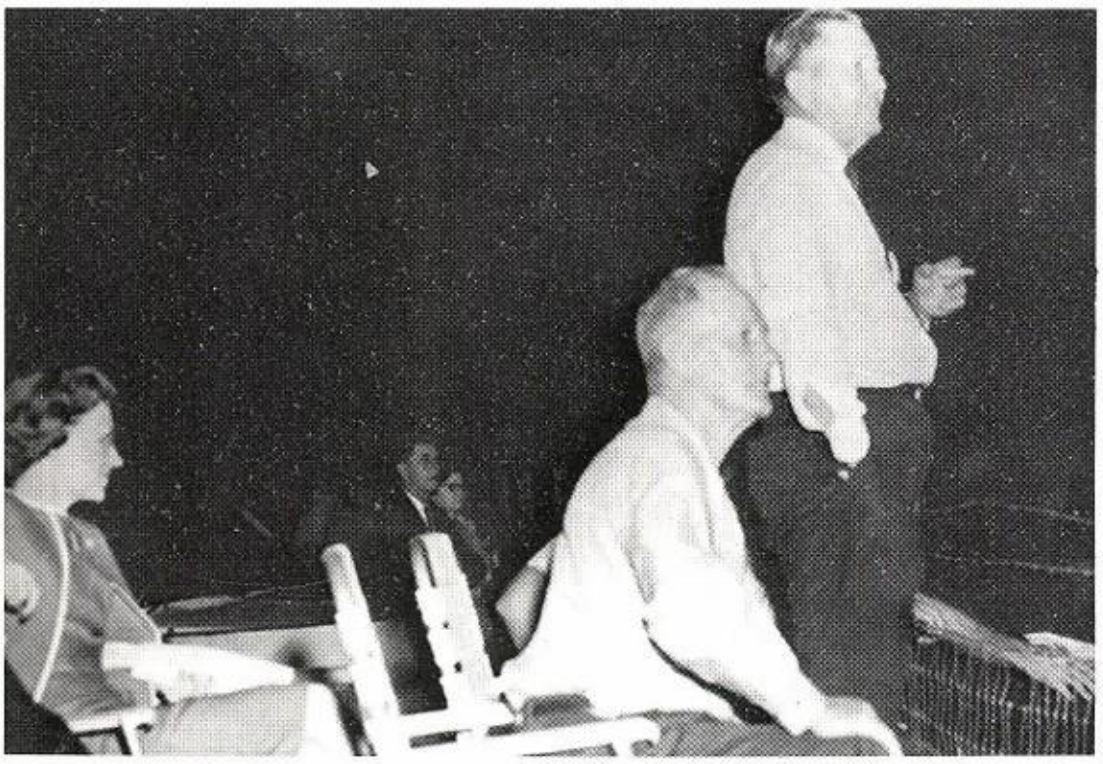
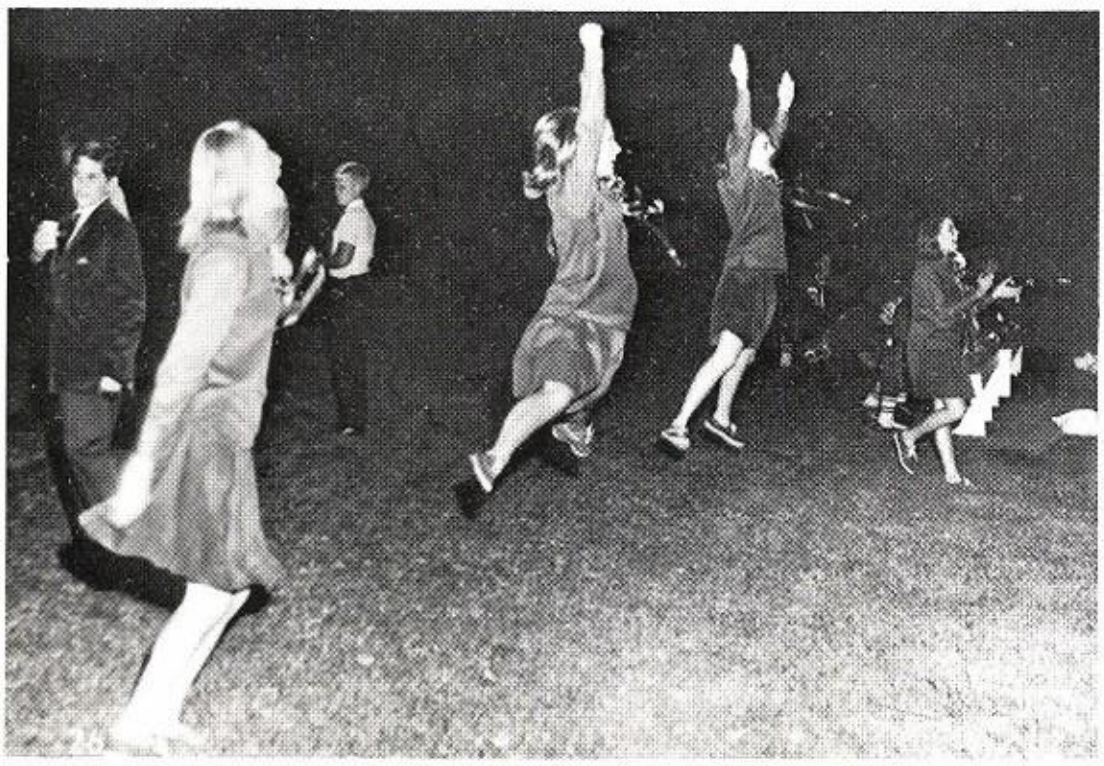
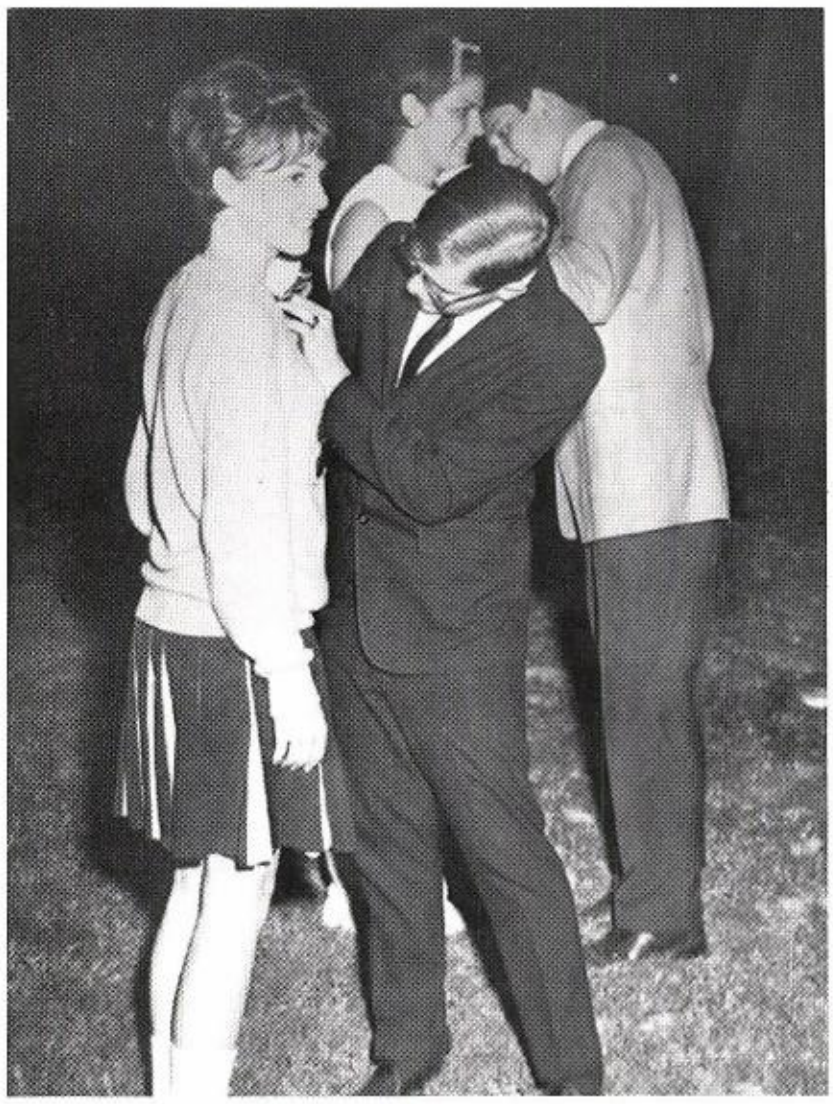
Preceding the football game, the 1966 homecoming queen and her princesses were presented to a large crowd of ex-students, local residents, and visitors. Escorts for the queen and her court were Lunn Evans, Paul Downey, Buddy Sloan, and Bryce Smith.



Excited spectators and energetic cheerleaders cheered the Mustang team to a 12-0 win over the Alto Yellow Jackets.





Bert Piboin and James Otis Carter, representing the student council, presented mums to Alto's Head Cheerleader and Drum Major.

Climaxing the two-day homecoming celebration was the coronation ceremony

CANDIDATES FOR MOST BEAUTIFUL AND HANDSOMEST

Looking very "beautiful" and "handsome" and waiting for the judges to reach a decision were: Tommy Starns, Pebbie Walker, Freddy Starns, Sherry Wells, Buck Wells, Laura Cannon, Paul Downey, Linda Quinn Ivey, Susan Chavers, Buddy Sloan, Dennis McWhorter, Susan Stover, Donnie Gannaway, Ann Dean, Rickey Mathis, and Debbie Carter.

CANDIDATES FOR FRIENDLIEST BOY AND GIRL

Susan dared to pluck the petals of a daisy in hopes it WOULD tell--while Nancy and James tried to coax the other blossoms to reveal the secret names of the winners. Competing for the title of Friendliest were (left to right): Troy Price and Dawn Tinkle, freshmen; Susan Wilson and G. G. Reynolds, juniors; Nancy Fannin and James Casey, seniors; and Kathy Stevens and Buddy Reynolds, sophomores.

Enhanced Yearbook Presentation Program

"Secrets of a Garden" was the theme for the 1966-67 presentation of Madisonville High School Personalities. This presentation is sponsored annually by the MUSTANG yearbook staff. Linda Ivie, Editor-in-Chief, welcomed faculty, students, and guests and acted as narrator for the program.

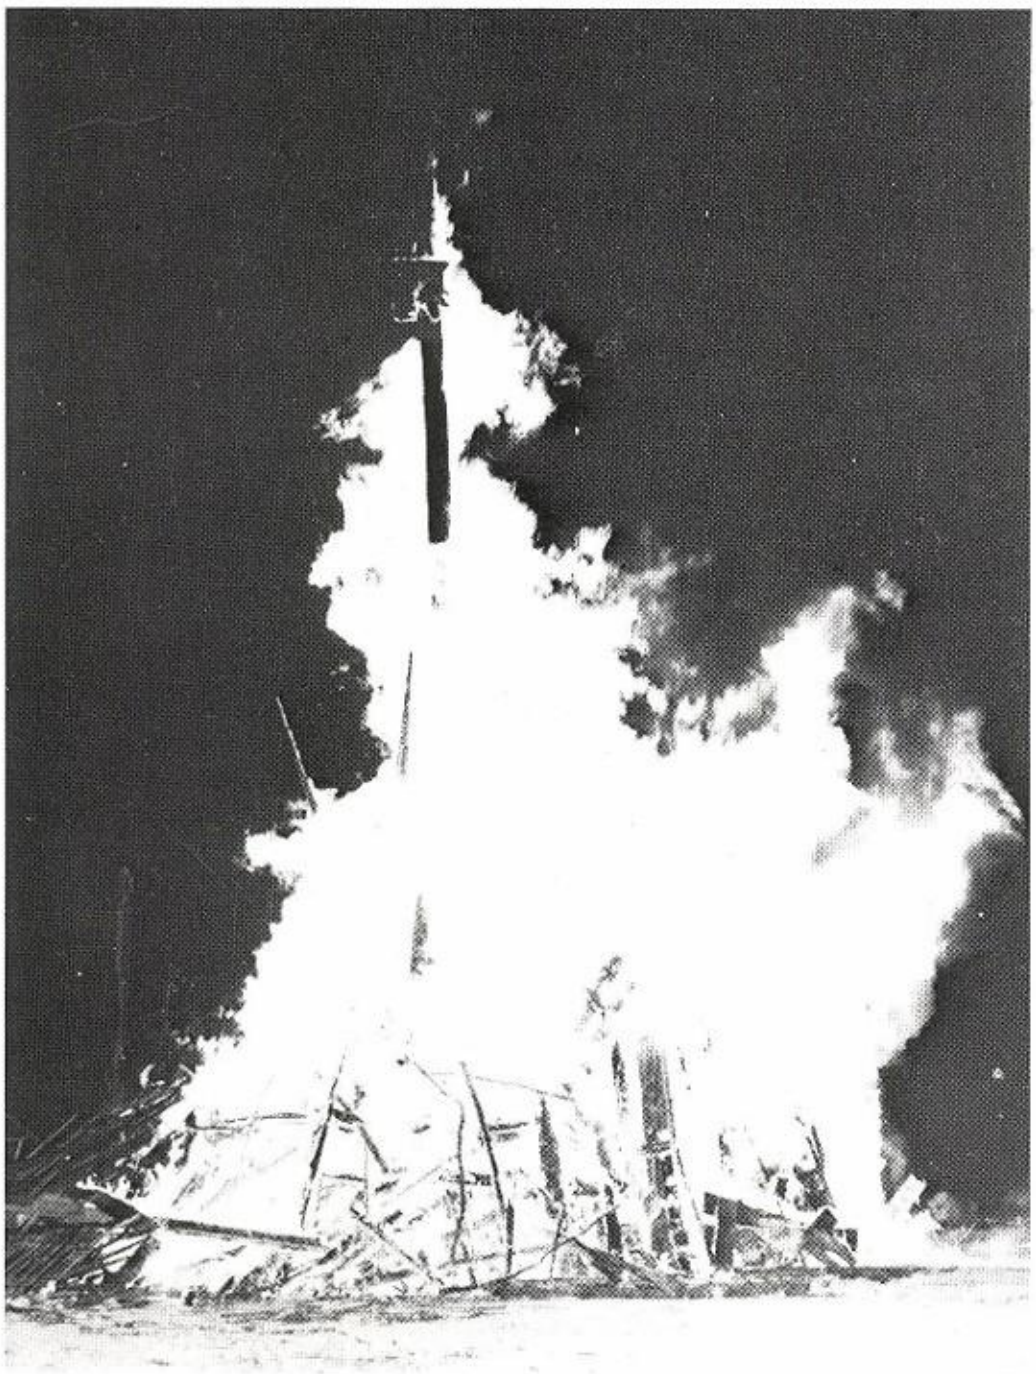
An early morning scene in the garden portrayed Class Favorites engaged in fun activities. Scene two caught candidates for Friendliest relaxing in the garden on a balmy afternoon. As shadows deepened, the scene changed to a garden party honoring candidates for Mr. and Miss M. H. S.

Highlight of the program came when candidates for Most Beautiful were spotlighted as they came down the aisle of the auditorium and joined candidates for Most Handsome on stage. Out of town judges selected winners and runners-up.

Campaign speeches for candidates running in the all-school election brought the program to a close. Winners from the various groups presented on stage are featured in the Personality section of this yearbook.

CANDIDATES FOR MR. AND MISS M. H. S.
End of a perfect day found candidates making small talk to the accompaniment of punch and cookies. Hopeful of capturing the top honor were James Otis Carter and Claudia Crouch, Kay Wakefield and Larry Richie, David Wells and Joy Dell Newton, and Pat Williams and Tommy Blakeney.

Activities Ranged



No wonder the bonfire blazed with such fury and spirits soared so wildly! 1966-67 was the eventful year which brought a halt to a record four-year losing streak for the Mustangs.

Chosen by the student body as MR. & MISS SCHOOL SPIRIT and crowned as the flames of the bonfire reached their peak were James Otis Carter and Claudia Crouch.

School spirit poured from the crowd of hopeful anticipation which hovered over an excited crowd as the bonfire crackled.

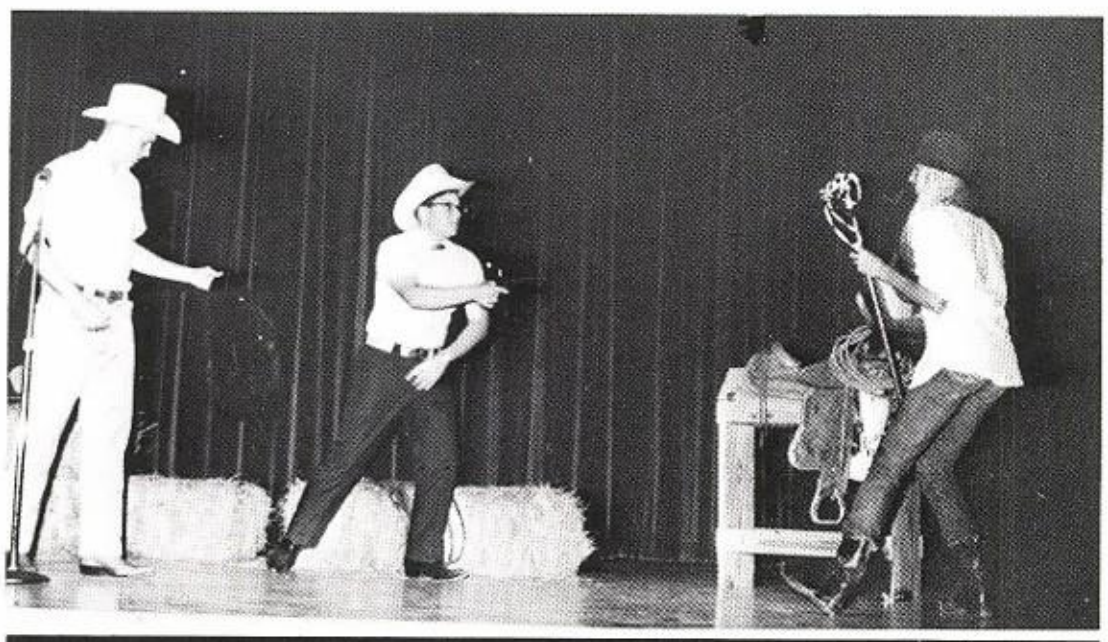
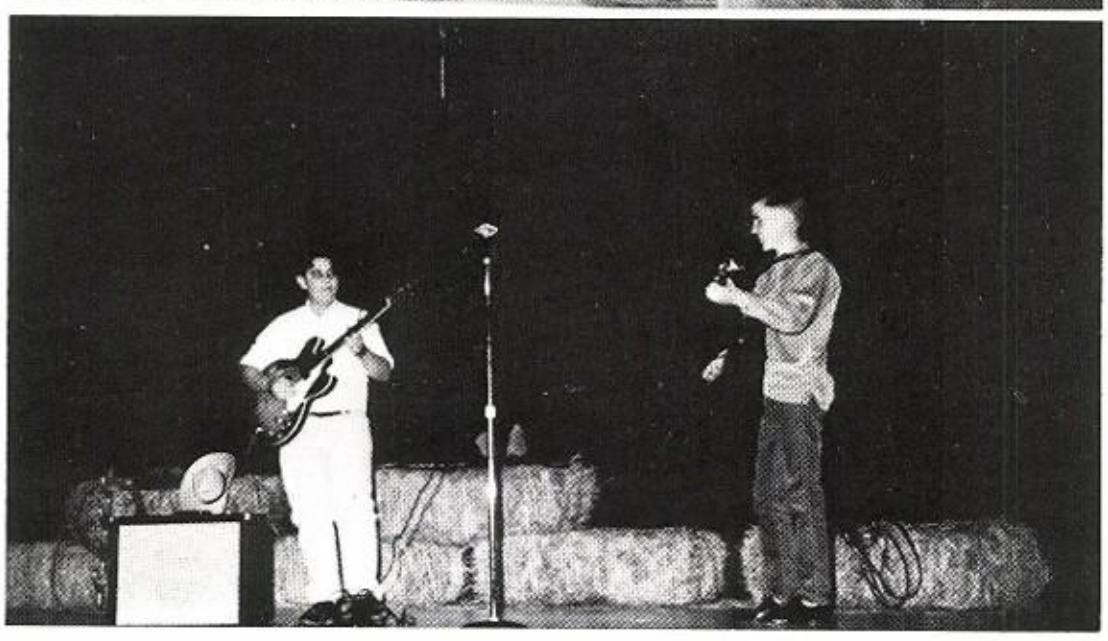
from Fiery to Fancy

Western Day is an annual event sponsored by the student council. Students wear fancy Western attire and compete for the title "Best-Dressed Cowboy and Cowgirl." Finalists, chosen by a faculty committee, were presented on stage at the Lions Club talent show by Dennis McWhorter. Winners, Dianne Cannon and Buck Wells (front right), received belt buckles as prizes. Named as runners-up were Susan Wilson and Mark Landers (front left).



As always, the good guys wore white hats. Had it not been for "Sheriff" Jim Reed, "Villain" Mark Morgan might have stolen the voting returns, which revealed the names of finalists in the "Best-Dressed" competition.



Western Day participation fell into rhythm as the Greenbriar Boys, Johnny Clark and Mark Wells, provided authentic "guitar pickin" hillbilly hits at the assembly program.

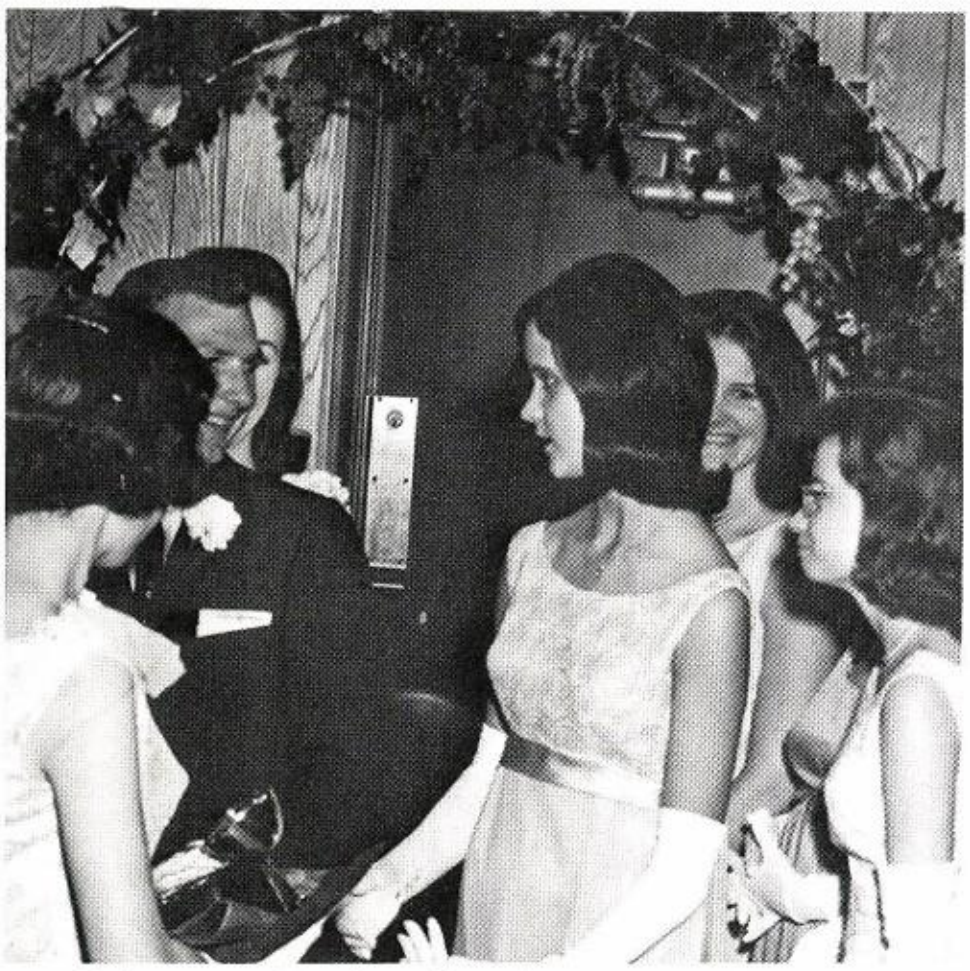
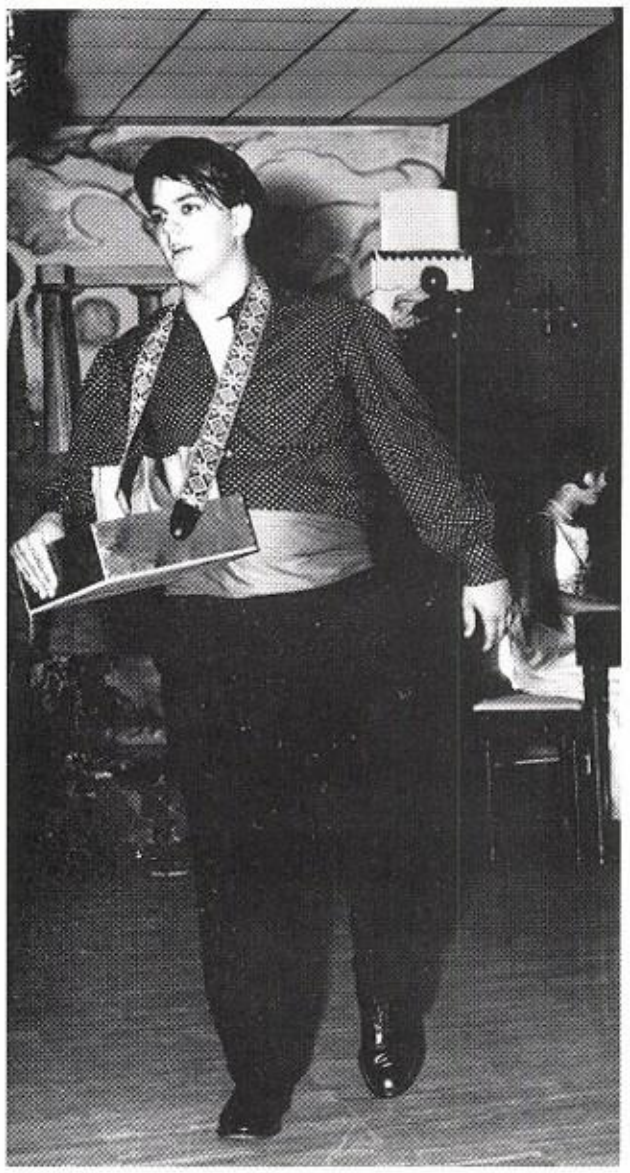
Banquet Featured



Guests, entering through a grapevine trellis, were greeted by a welcoming committee of juniors.



Peanut vendor Lunn Evans sang as he peddled his wares.

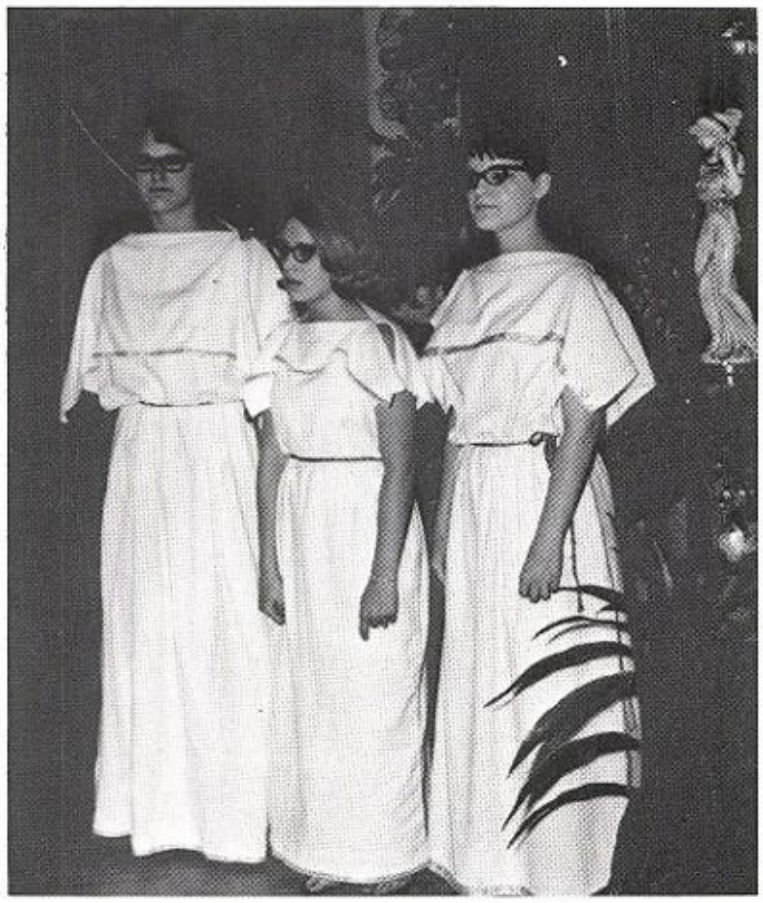
"Three Coins in the Fountain" was chosen as the theme for the Junior-Senior Banquet, held May 6. For this one evening the Corral Cafe abandoned its western motif and took on the atmosphere of a romantic spot in the heart of Rome.

Focal point in the decorations was a large fountain with tiered water spray, lily pads, and gold fish. Colorful Roman murals and classic white columns entwined with ivy and adorned with huge clusters of grapes, were featured prominently.

Tommy Blakeney, president of the junior class, was master of ceremonies. Sophomores and freshmen in appropriate costumes presented a program in keeping with the theme. Pianist for the program was Kay Wakefield.

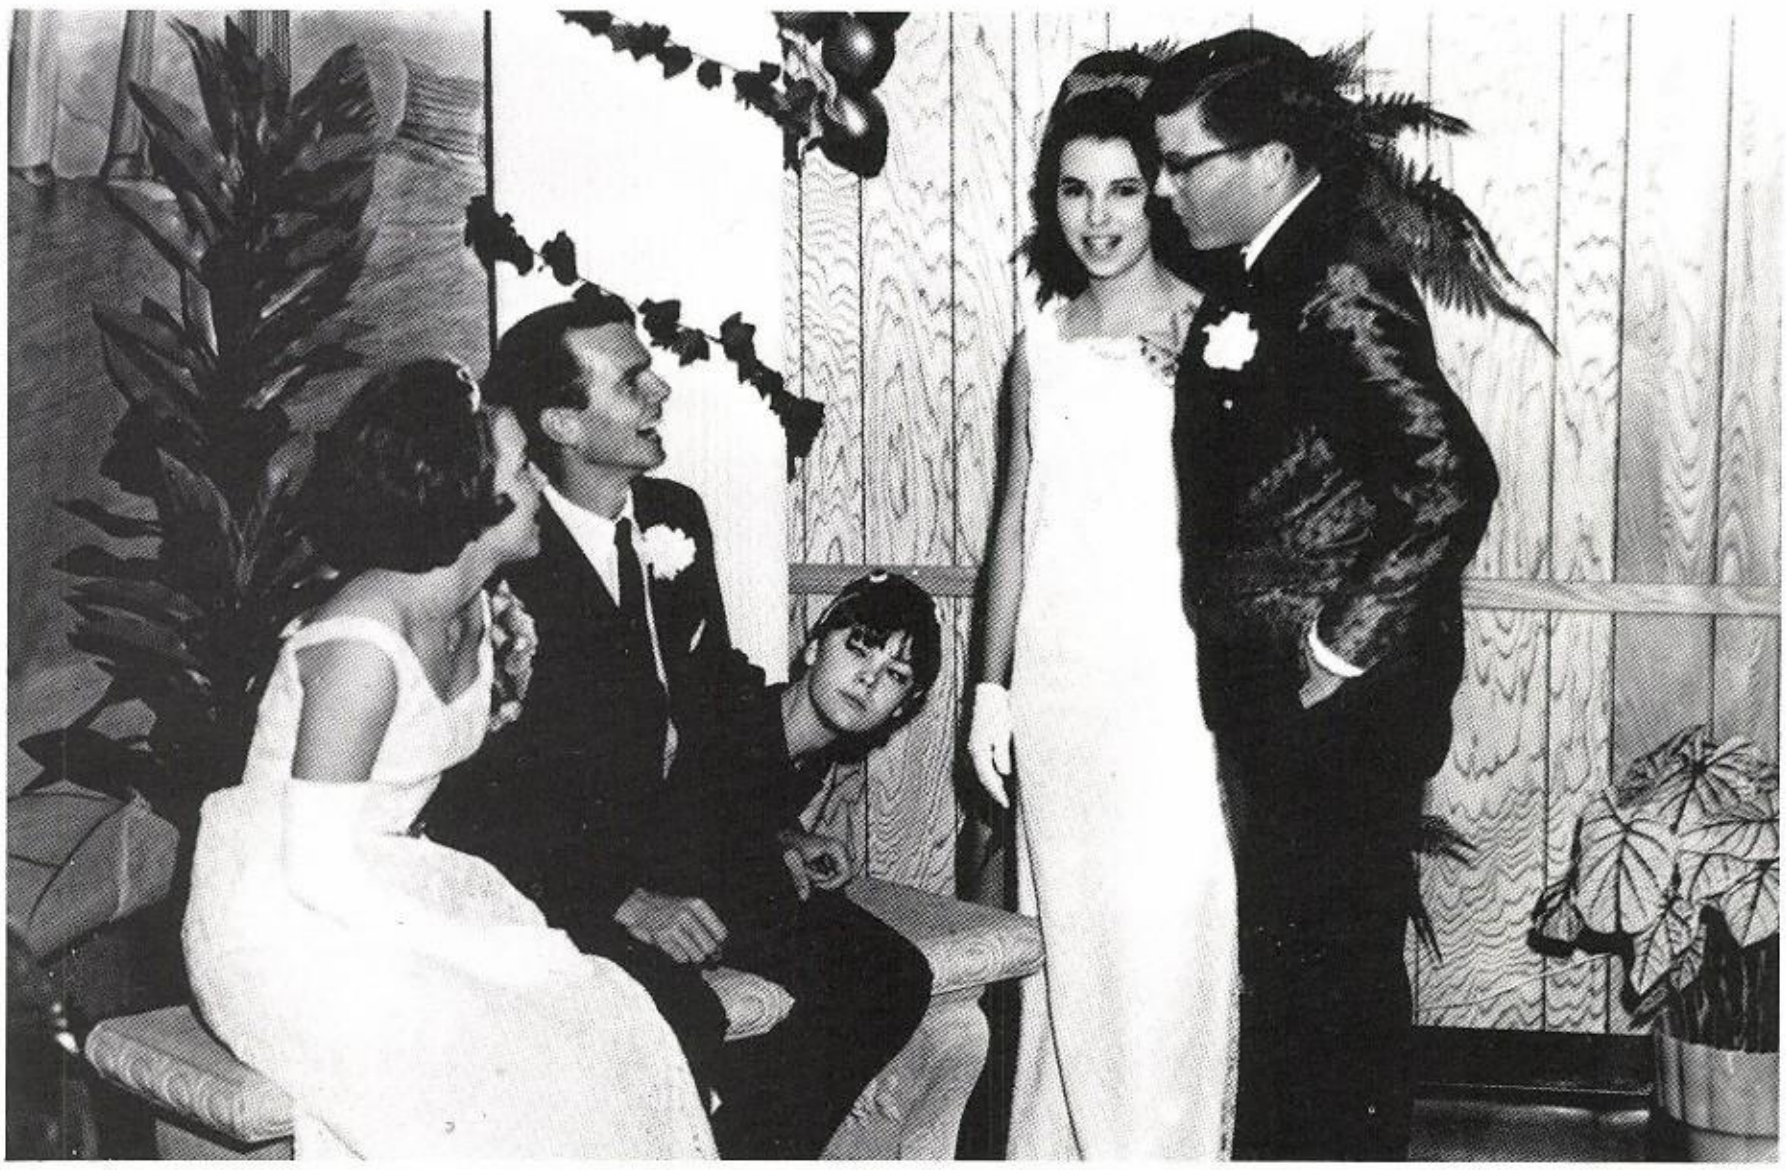
Frog antics of Susan Gibson, Susan Wilson, Susan Downey, and Pebbie Walker came to a sudden halt...

Italian Cuisine and Roman Decor



Joyce Crocker, Patricia Wakefield, and Joyce Spivey presented a medley of Italian songs.

Claudia Crouch performed the solemn duty of disposing of all worldly (and unworldly) possessions of the Class of 1967 - everything from Ann Miller's "kitchenola" to Charles Mills' "souvenirs" of the Navasota rodeo.



...as junior couples leisurely approached the fountain, tossed in their coins, and lingered a while. Eavesdropping "frogs", hiding in the background, came out later to engage in a little frog gossip revealing future whereabouts and activities of the seniors.

Mountain Cabin and

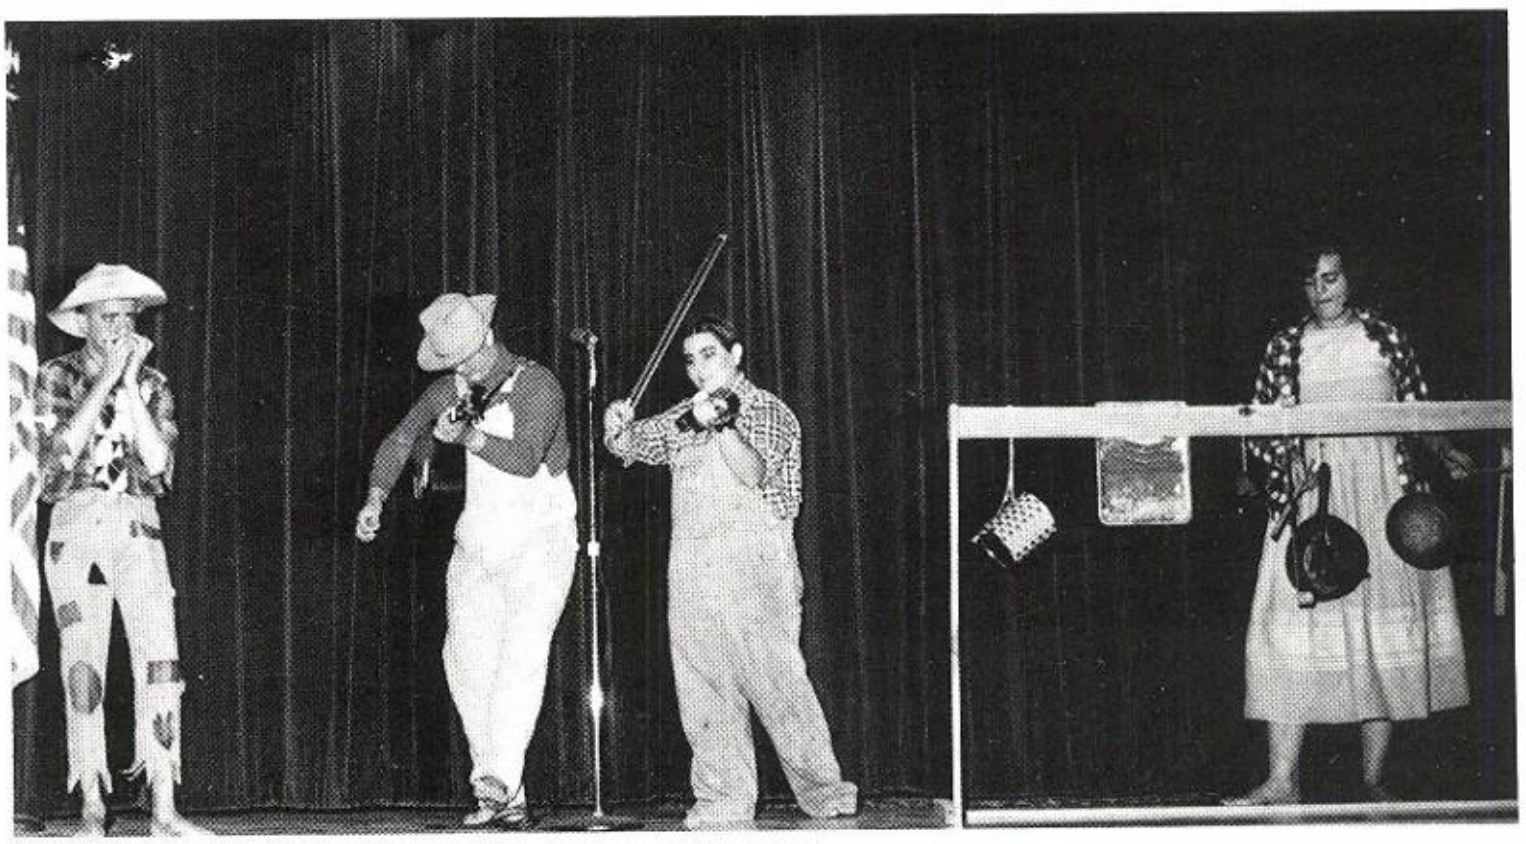
Although the end was clearly in sight, seniors found themselves swallowed by a tidal wave of last-minute activities. The senior play, "Trail of the Lonesome Pine", consumed countless hours of precious senior time. To the surprise of the cast, however, every minute of it was enjoyed, for it was the final big project which would hold fond memories for seniors hard at work.

Part of the funds provided by the senior play added to the senior trip deposit. The remainder was donated to the Mustang Band to aid in buying new uniforms.

Characters in the senior play included: Susan Stover, James Casey, Ordy Deal, Bobby Gafford, Patricia Smith, Douglas Stevens, Claudia Crouch, Bert Piboin, Beverly Crouch, Paul Wappler, Nancy Fannin, Thommye Garrett, Sandra Comer, and Dennis McWhorter.

Hillbilly Characters Captivated Audience

Last-minute suggestions and constructive criticism were given by the sponsors to members of the cast as they took a hard-earned rest following dress rehearsal.



Hillbilly tunes played by Rickey Mathis, Lunn Evans, Johnny Clark, and Ann Miller provided authentic and appropriate entertainment between acts.

3. Another ex-student, Mrs. Johnnie Braddy, received a plaque of appreciation on the occasion of her tenth annual book review given in behalf of the Honor Society.

4. Student council treated entire student body and faculty to Halloween refreshments.

President James Otis Carter, Vice President Dennis McWhorter, Secretary Susan Stover, and Treasurer Claudia Crouch were made aware of their duties before taking the oath of office.

James Casey, Linda Ivie, and John Sawtelle arrived with cupcakes and ice for the Halloween treat.

With a new school and a new sponsor to aid them in their year's activities, the student council began to plan programs and projects to enrich the school year. Their first project was to assist with the dedication of the new school building by serving as ushers and guides for the visitors that toured the building.

During football season mums were presented to the visiting head cheerleaders and drum majors before the game by members of the council.

Participation in homecoming activities included the sale of mums, guided tours of the new building, and registration of the ex-students. In keeping with the Christmas spirit, the council sponsored a program and presented gifts to Mr. Starkey and Mr. Hawthorne.

Other activities of the year included a Halloween treat, a show party, and Western Day.

1966-67 was a school year filled with accomplishment, fun, and enthusiasm for the Mustang Band. The marching band began work in August in order to perfect their marching skill. Many hours of practice enabled them to perform with precision during halftime activities at each football game. The band was also present at each home basketball game to add spirit and zest to the crowd.

In Interscholastic League Competition the band received a first division rating in concert and sight reading and a third division rating in marching. Other activities of the year included participation in the Sam Houston State College homecoming parade, the Bryan Christmas parade, and the University of Houston Band Day.

This year at the All-District Band tryouts at Cypress-Fairbanks High School, Kelly Adkins, Linda Quill, and Doug Stevens qualified for All-District Band and Olivia Gustine and Peggy Wakefield (center) qualified for Regional Band, which met later in the year at Houston.

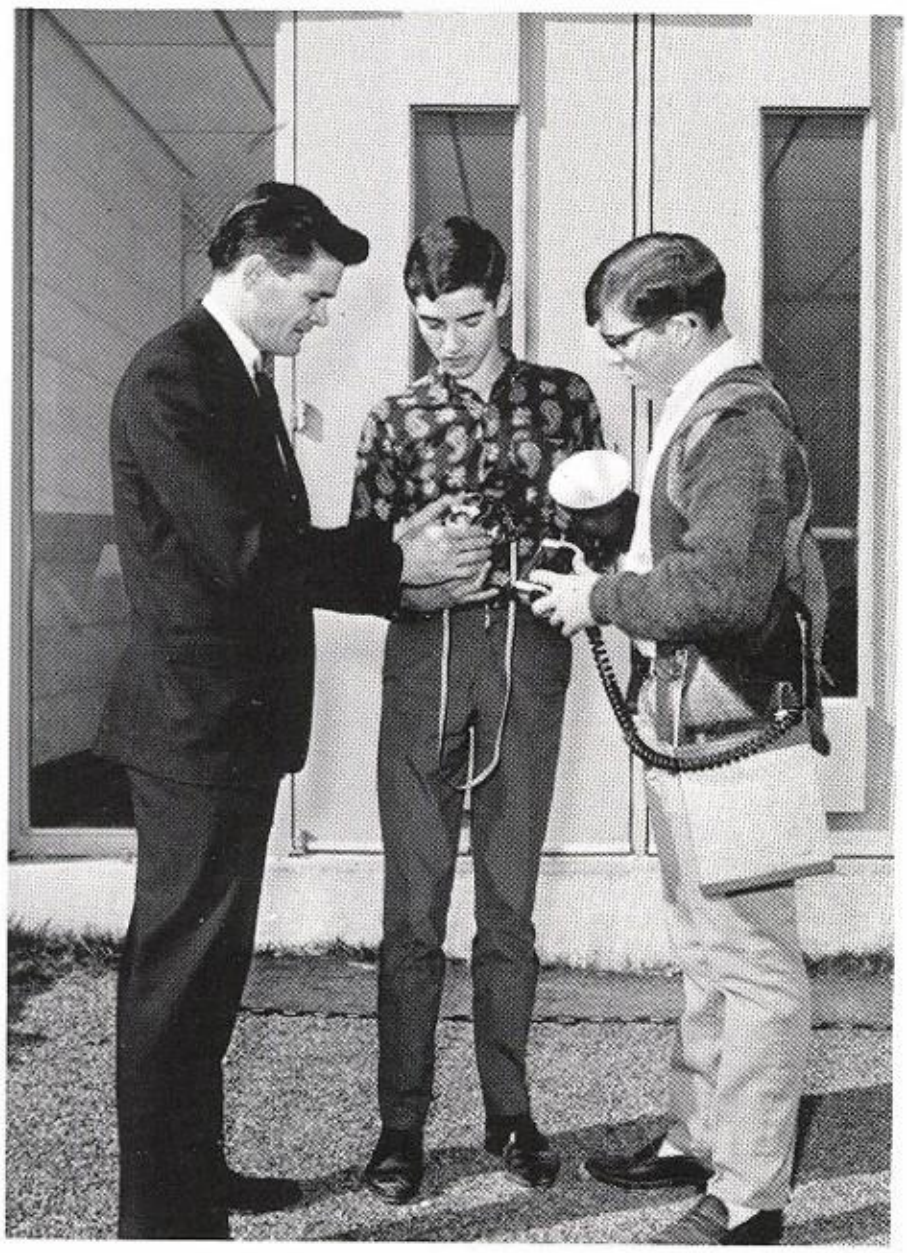
Balanced Yearbook Finances



Mr. Crawford gave student photographers, Gordon Wells and Jim Reed, a few pointers in the use of the camera.

Seven editors began work on the 1967 MUSTANG early in the year. Deciding the theme and selecting the cover were among the first matters to be discussed. The task of gathering pictures and preparing layout sheets was then to be undertaken. April came and, as the first shipment went off, the staff breathed a sigh of relief, realizing that their job was partly completed. June found the staff still toiling to get in the last copy. When the last shipment was made, the 1967 MUSTANG was on its way to becoming a reality.

Editors and other members of the staff raised necessary funds during the year by selling ads and school pictures. Orders for senior portraits and activity pictures also contributed to yearbook assets.

Still another responsibility of the Mustang staff was the traditional presentation Program. Candidates for Personalities were presented to the student body and guests.

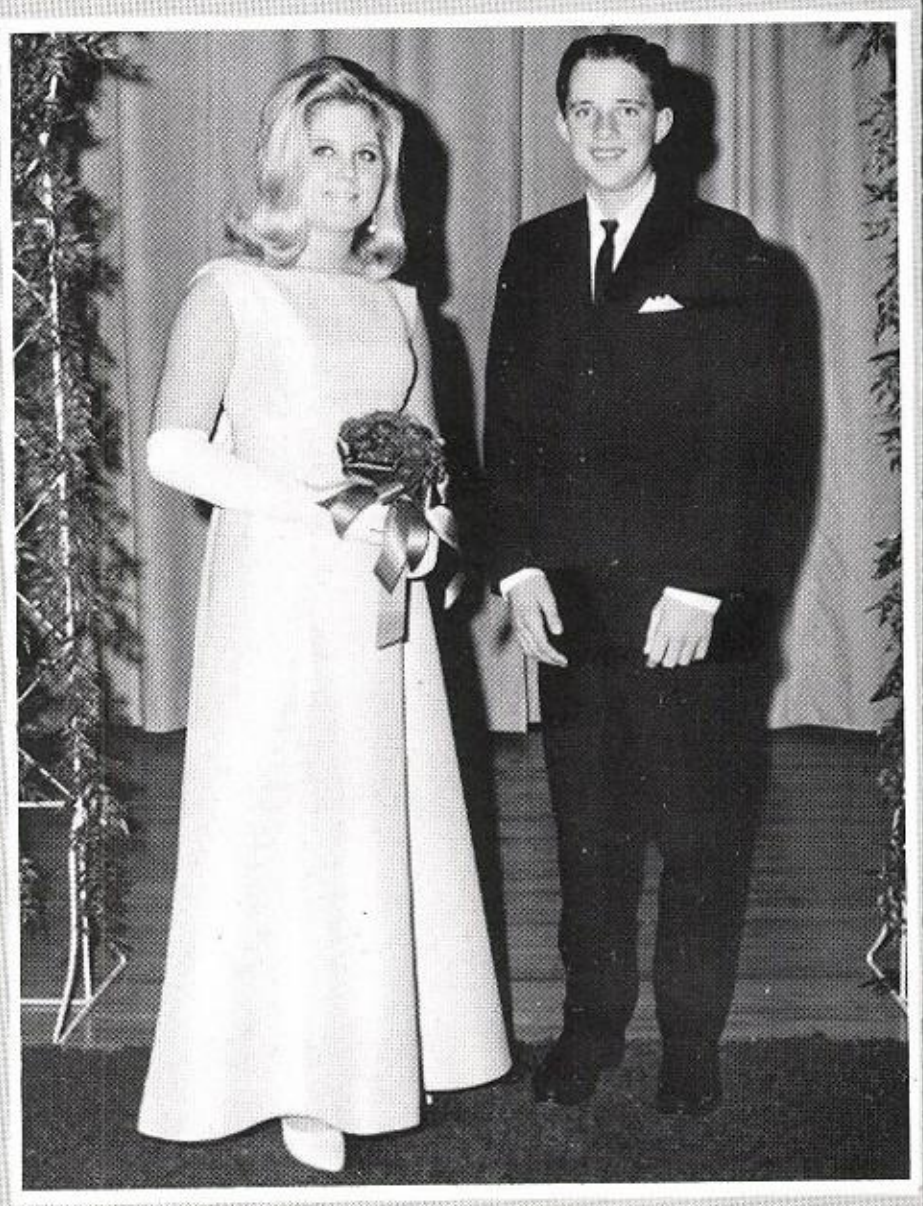
Ordy Deal and Sherry Wells brought in ads for the 1967 MUSTANG.

1. During the Presentation of Personalities, Class Favorites were presented on stage as they pursued early morning diversions. Good catch - but no doubt the BIG ONE got away!

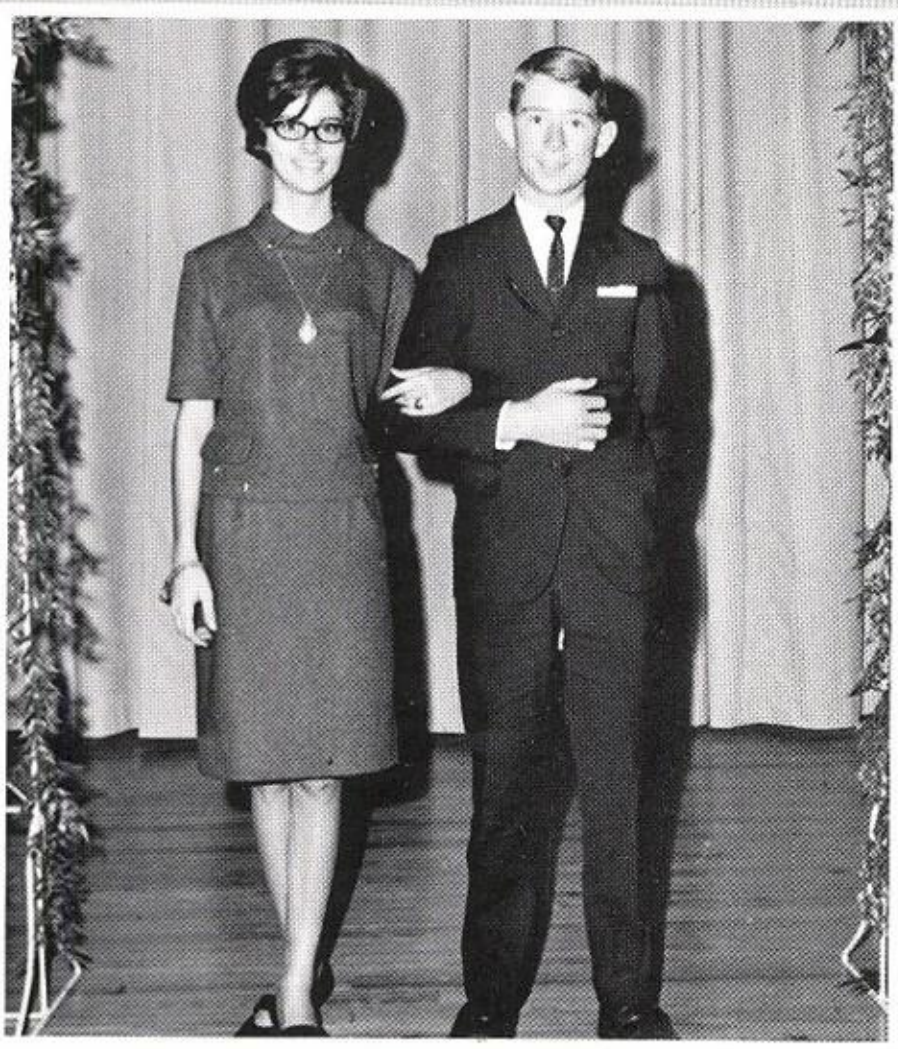
2. Freshman candidates for Friendliest entered the "garden" and met the camera face-to-face.

3. No one envied the judges when they were forced to choose from such "beautiful" and "handsome" candidates as these juniors.

4. Decision was announced and winners and runners-up were called to the stage.



PERSONALITIES



Miss M.H.S.

CLAUDIA CROUCH

In the annual election of year-book "Personalities", one girl and one boy are elected from each class as Most Representative. These eight persons are presented at the Presentation Program and speeches define the qualities of each class couple. The student body selects the boy and the girl who best qualify for the titles of Mr. and Miss M.H.S.

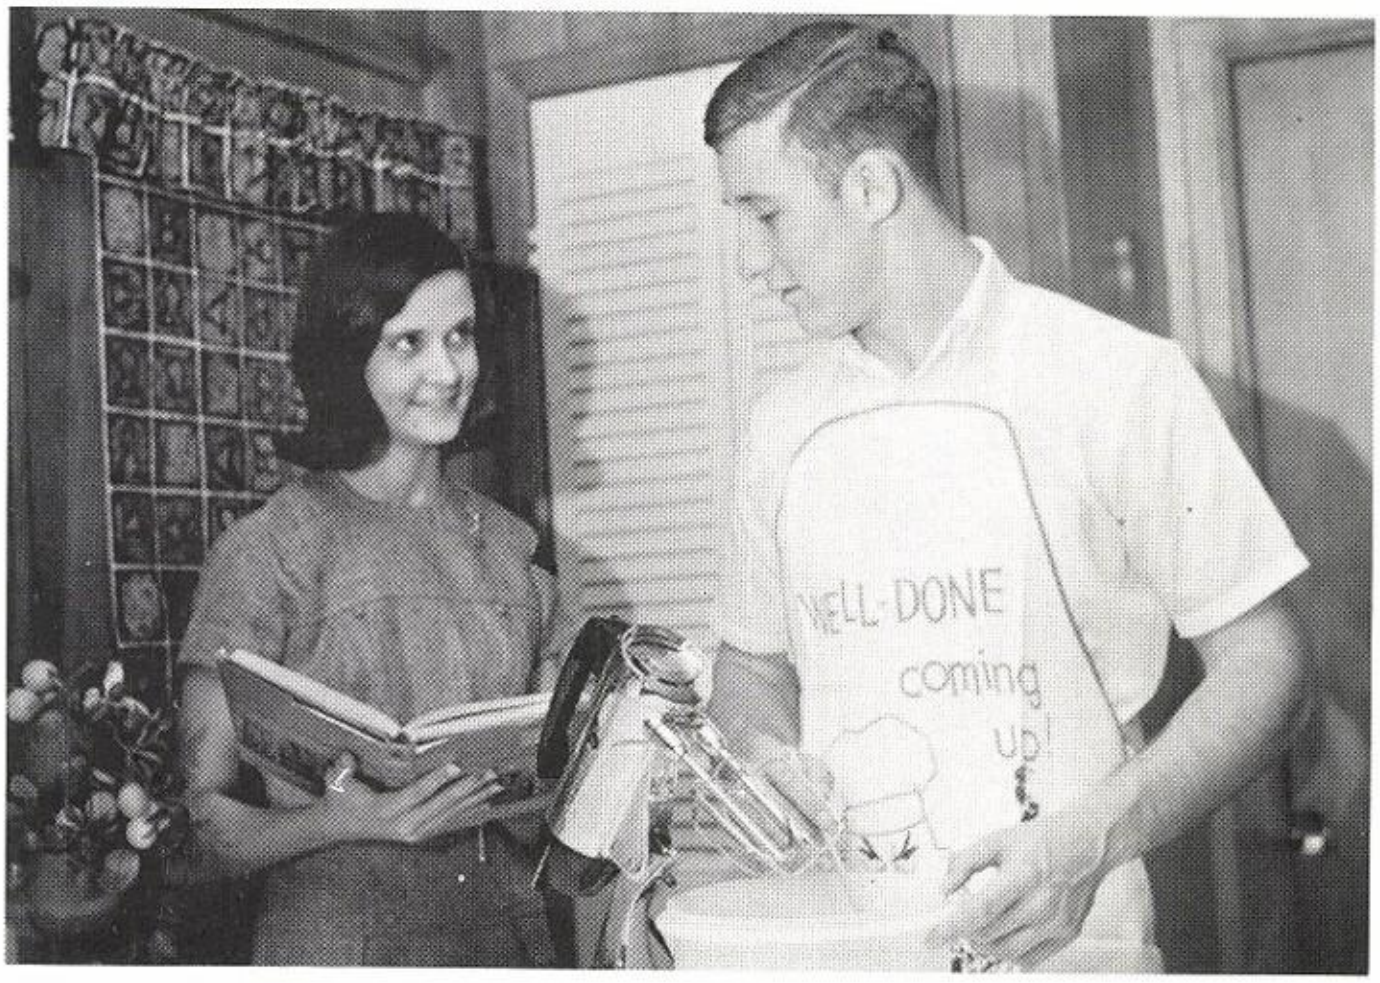
MOST REPRESENTATIVE SOPHOMORES
Obviously, Joy Dell Newton believed in making a man work for his supper, but David Wells didn't seem to think much of the idea.



MOST REPRESENTATIVE JUNIORS

Pat Williams, had a hard time convincing Tommy Blakeney that they were doing exactly as the cook book said. Perhaps the dish was not so "well-done."

MOST REPRESENTATIVE SENIORS

"Yipes, it wiggled," screamed Claudia Crouch. James Otis Carter was a bit more practical as he reassured Claudia, "It's just your nerves jumping - so drop it in the pan."

Clean-up Time Proved

Kathy and G. G. hastily rescued the wishbone before it landed in the garbage--and put it to use. No doubt their wishes had something to do with the verdict coming up soon on those recent mid-term exams.

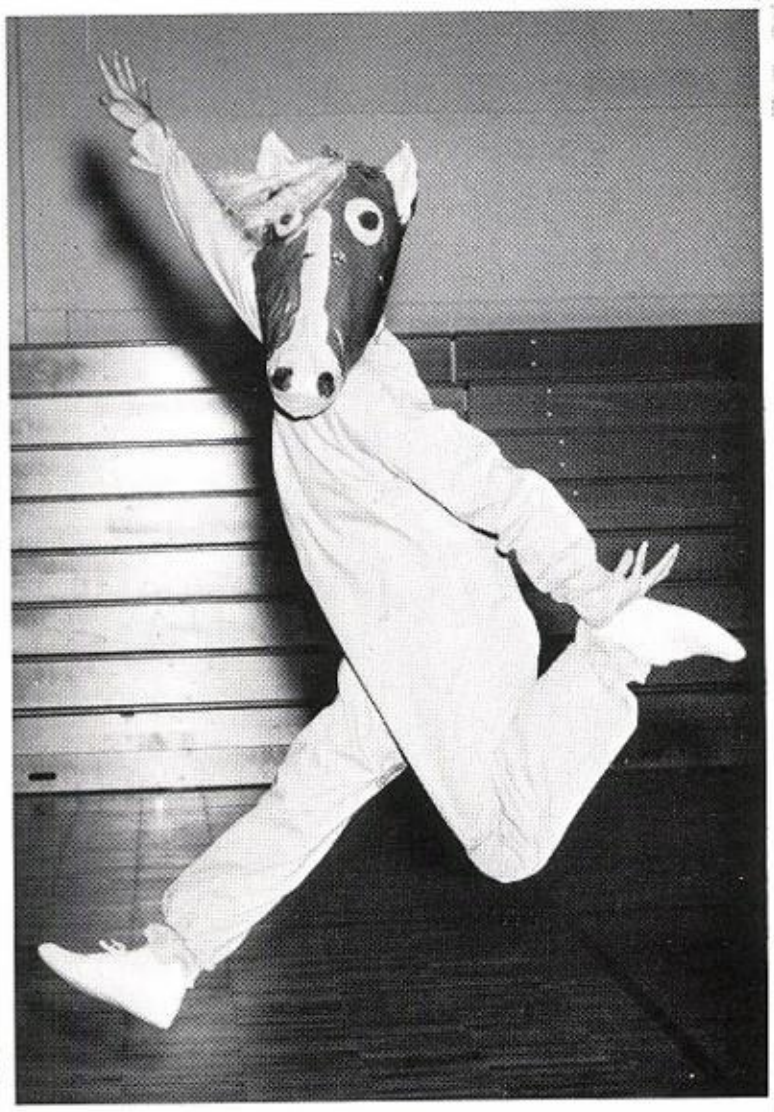
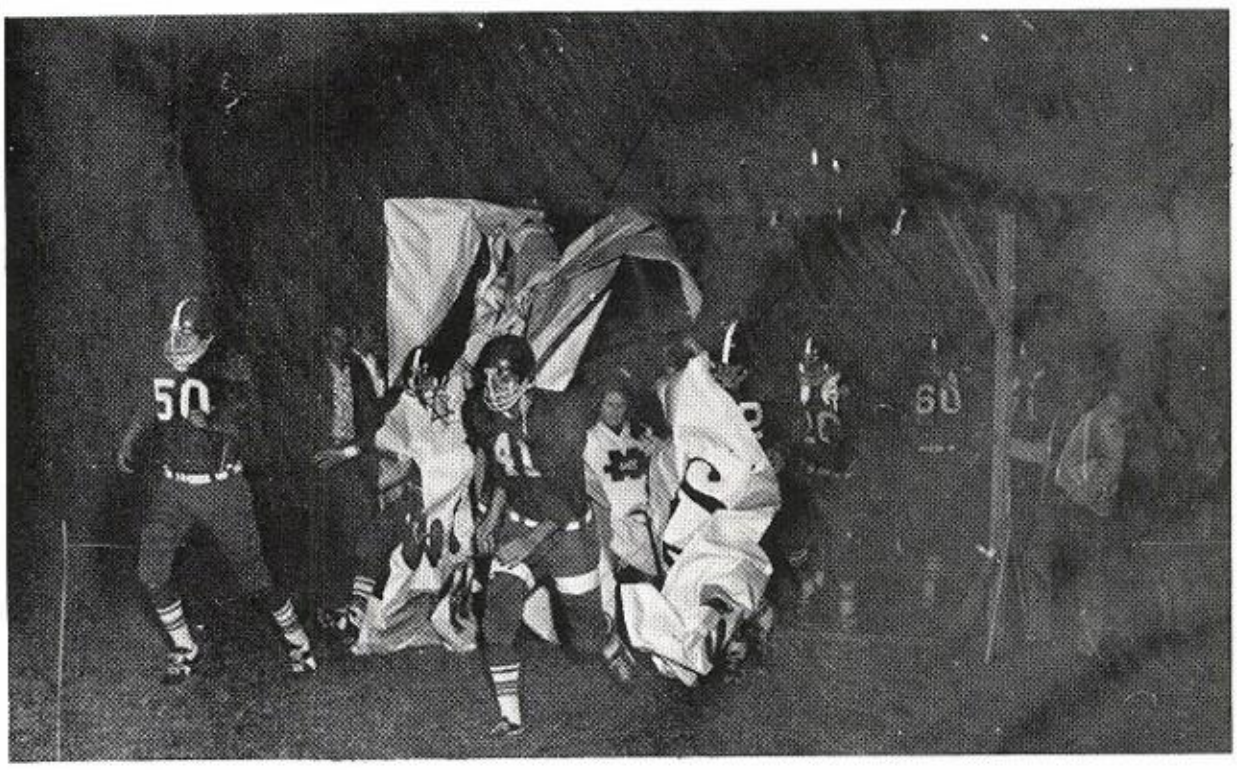
Spirit pervaded the new gym as Mustang cheerleaders led student body and faculty in tonsil-taunting yells during weekly pep rallies.



Mascot "Monty Mustang" took on a "Mod" look and a dual personality as he performed before an enthusiastic student body. At times his antics were unmistakably those of Mark Morgan--but there were other occasions when his grace and agility strongly suggested Sondra Adams.

For years Madisonville High School has boasted the best cheerleaders in the area. Last July these cheerleaders made that bragger's boast a reality when they brought home the first place trophy from the Galveston ACA Cheerleading camp. A year of toil had begun. Hours of back-breaking, muscle-pulling work were devoted to learning and to perfecting yells, and much thought and time were given to planning spirit-boosting events for the year ahead. Mrs. Alice Ann Fannin served as sponsor for the cheerleaders.



Hopes were high as prancing ponies plowed through the spirit frame to start the game.

MUSTANGS STOMPED TIGERS

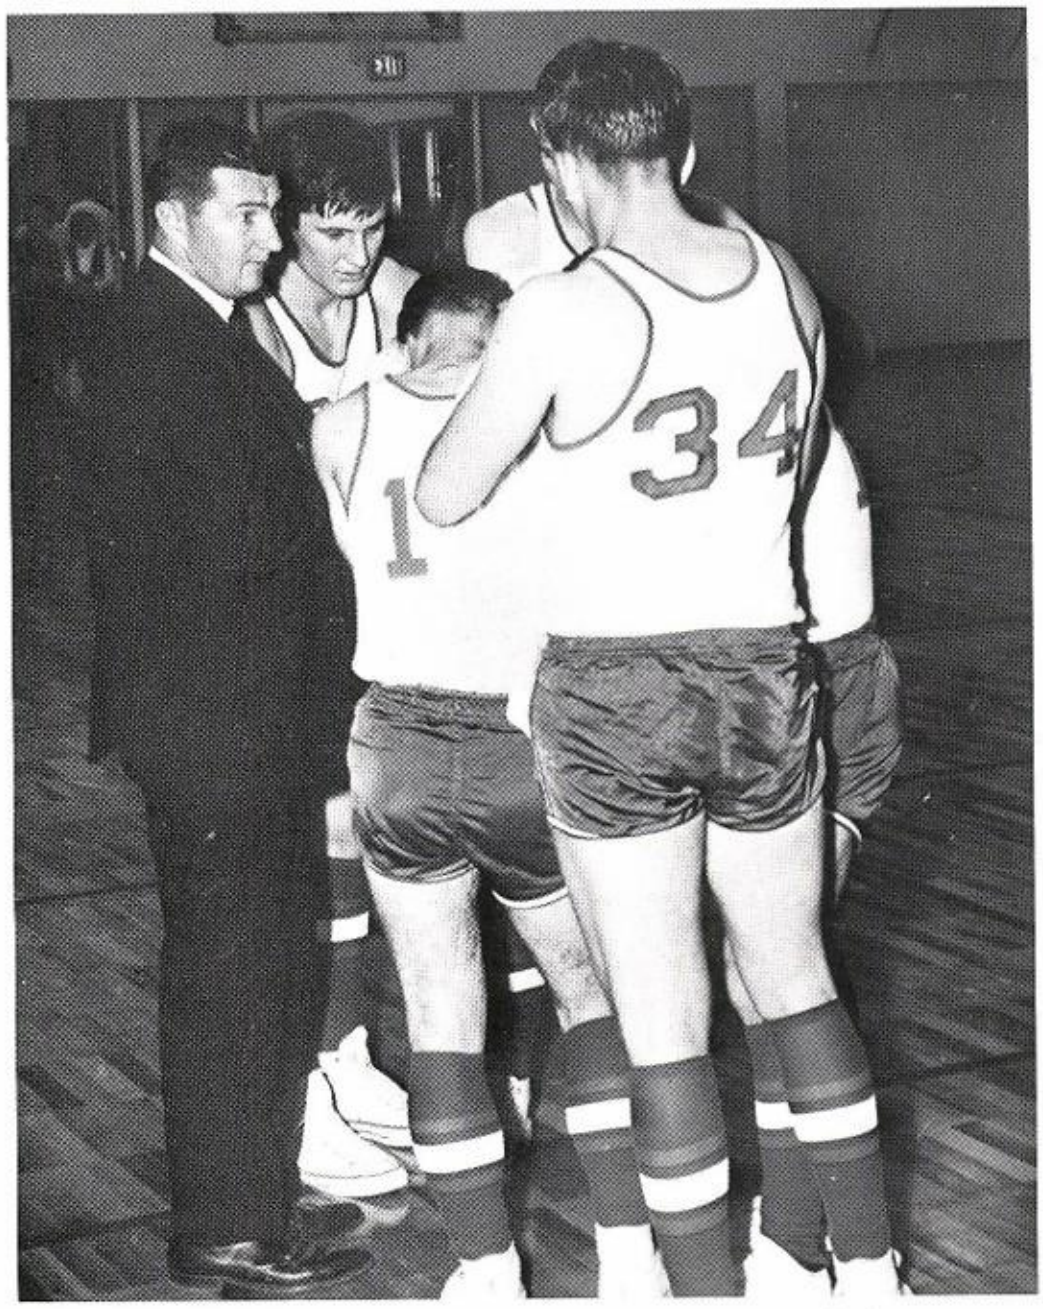
Madisonville's fleet-footed Ponies opened district competition with a bang by defeating Trinity 56-49. The Ponies never trailed in this hard-fought contest. James Carter led the Mustangs with 15 points while Kenneth Hensley added 12 points.

In their second hardwood contest, the Ponies displayed much poise and much outside shooting to dump the Tigers 56-36. Hensley had 24 points to lead the Ponies while Ivey added 12 points and Starns, 10 points.

MUSTANGS DUMPED WESTWOOD

In their first meeting the Ponies eased by the upset-minded Westwood team 44-41. Dennis Ivey tallied 17 points while Hensley added 12 points to lead the Mustang bandwagon.

The second encounter saw the Mustangs maul the Panthers by a 62-40 count. The Ponies had three players in double figures with Calvin Sloan leading the way with 16 points. Ivey and Hensley tossed in 15 and 14 points, respectively.



Coach Dyer explained his strategy to his team during a time out of the Grapeland game.

Kenneth Hensley (30) added two points against Richards.

MUSTANGS SPLIT WITH ALTO

Alto was unable to stop the hot-shooting Ponies in their first contest and the Yellow Jackets were defeated 45-39. Kenneth Hensley led the Mustangs with 19 points while Dennis Ivey added 13 points.

In their second encounter Alto gave the Mustangs their worst licking of the season by a 52-26 score. Hensley led the Mustangs in scoring with 10 points.

TALLER GRAPELAND SQUEAKED BY PONIES

Grapeland, sporting three 6'5" players, rolled over the stall-minded Mustangs 30-23 in their first meeting. Dennis Ivey led the Mustang barrage with 15 points while James Carter added 5 points.

In the second game the Ponies trailed all the way. They cut the margin to two points at the end of the third quarter, but the Grapeland team went ahead to win 49-37. Kenneth Hensley led the Mustangs with 13 points while Ivey added 10 points.

PONIES SCALPED INDIANS

In their first meeting the Ponies handed a helpless Groveton team a 58-40 licking. With Hensley and Carter scoring 23 and 12 points, respectively, the Ponies were never in trouble.

A determined Groveton team supplied an over-confident Pony team with a real battle in their second game. The Ponies won by a 52-47 count with Hensley scoring 17 points and Sloan adding 10 points.

Six Mustangs ended their careers as basketball players for Madisonville High in the second game. The Mustangs won by a 52-43 score. Upon winning this game, the Ponies finished third in district competition. Hensley and Ivey were the leading scorers with 17 and 10 points, respectively.

Paul Wappler, who was medalist in district, practiced diligently for the regional meet.

1. Seventh grade had the privilege of performing in the new auditorium - and high school had the privilege of hearing the Shinealiers in a program of Christmas songs.

2. Junior high boasted a pair of veteran first-place winners.

3. Space demonstration proved to be a "hair-raising" experience for a certain eighth grader.

4. Graduation from junior high was the milestone marking the end of the first lap in a long and important journey.

J. R. Parten Junior High Colts, coached by Robert Harrison, swept to the District 21-A championship as they defeated Alto 20-0. Both the Colts and Alto had won their respective zones and were matched for the district title. The Colts had a seasonal record of six wins, no losses, and two ties. In the last game of the season they beat Allen Academy 12-6. The Colts were outstanding in that they had not been scored on until they played Allen in a non-district game.

Seventh and eighth grade track teams brought home many ribbons from the A&M Consolidated Track Meet, where they did an outstanding job in competition with larger schools. The Colts placed second in the district track meet with 87 1/2 points. Grady Starling scored 31 points to be top individual scorer in the meet. The 440-relay team set a new meet record with a time of 50.1.

The Colt basketball team were in no district division. They ended the season with an eight win and nine loss record. The Colts won a second-place trophy in the Oakwood tournament while the seventh grade won the Huntsville tournament.

"Go! Fight! Win!" of the pep squad encouraged the Colts to many victories. Sponsors were Mrs. Billye Shine and Mrs. Pat McCoy.

1. Madisonville's new school served the community as well as the student body. Huge crowds filled the auditorium to overflowing at both Lions Club Talent Shows. Local members in colorful gold and purple jackets sang the opening number for each show.

2. Everything was in readiness for the crowd, which Lions Club president hoped would be large enough to insure sufficient funds for the club's civic projects. IT WAS!!

3. First high school basketball tournament held in the new gymnasium attracted scores of adult fans.

4. Parents and friends of the first graduating class of the new Madisonville Senior High School assembled in the auditorium to witness Commencement ceremonies.

In Memory of a 1965 Graduate . . .

Bruce Wayne Mathis

"Mr. School Spirit of 1964-65"

Bruce Mathis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mathis, was killed instantly in an automobile accident October 22, 1966. During his senior year at Madisonville High School, fellow students bestowed upon him the title of "Mr. School Spirit" and placed him in the runoff for "Friendliest Boy."

. . . and

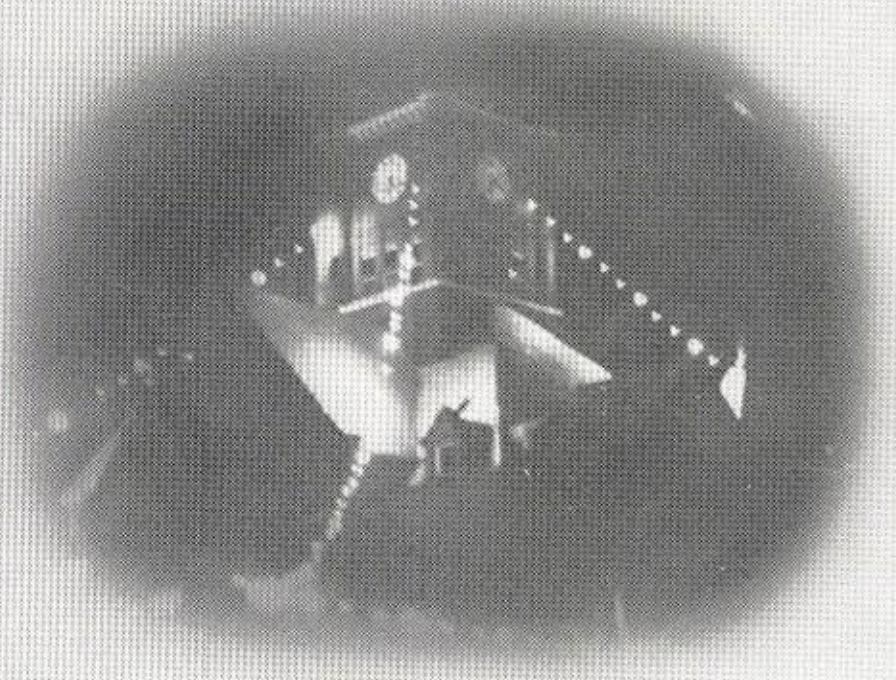
Begun in 1894, Madison County's beloved old courthouse stood stately and tall, keeping constant vigil from its vantage point in the center of Madisonville's town square - until that fateful Sunday evening when a raging fire reduced it to a smouldering heap of bricks and debris.

For more than seventy historic years the old clock looked out of its lofty steepled tower in four directions and marked time for a busy community. Now there is only a tragic emptiness where once the proud old tower rose majestically. Longtime residents recall that the huge four-faced clock was hauled by ox-wagon from Huntsville, Texas. The round trip required four days and four oxen!

a Cherished Historic Landmark

August 14, 1966:

A new, modern high school was dedicated and a new era began.



May 14, 1967:

A picturesque old courthouse was destroyed by fire and another era ended.
